

A Fact About Kelowna

The City of Kelowna covers an area of 1,525 acres.

Major Crisis Facing Kelowna Due to Lack Of School Facilities

Attendance Shatters All Previous Records—Forced To Curtail Classes In Junior High School—Children Not Already Six Years Of Age Cannot Start This Year—Pupils Are Working Under Handicap

Another School Badly Needed

THE City of Kelowna is facing a major crisis due to lack of schooling facilities. Faced with an attendance that has shattered all previous school records, the School Board has been forced to curtail classes in the Junior High School, while in the elementary school, children who are not already six years of age will not be allowed to enter school this year. In previous years, youngsters who would normally reach the beginners' school age in October or November, would be allowed to commence their studies, but the rooms are so overtaxed, School Board officials have no other alternative.

These facts were made known this week by the secretary of the Kelowna School Board, when he pointed out the urgent need for the construction of another school in the city. He said the standard size of a school class in an elementary school is about 40 children, 35 in Junior High, and 30 in a Senior High School class.

The home economics classes in the Junior High School for girls in grade VI and the manual training classes for boys in the same grade have been discontinued indefinitely, he stated, pointing out at the same time that it is most important to teach these subjects to boys and girls of this age. In the Senior High School, the classes have to register in the commercial room, which is only equipped for typewriters, while another class has to register in the laboratory.

At the present time there are only four school buildings in the city. These are Primary, Junior Elementary and Elementary, while the Junior and Senior High Schools are combined in one building.

In a report received from W. J. Logie, principal of the Senior High School, it was pointed out that 293 students are attending Senior High school this year, compared with a peak number of 245 during the 1944-45 school year. These are divided into six divisions as follows:

Division one: Senior High—31 pupils. This division is registered in the bookkeeping room of the Commercial Department. There are 30 desks in this room, but it is necessary for these students to keep most of their books in the lockers outside the classroom.

Division two: Grade XII—Registered in room 7, and at the present has 36 students enrolled.

Division three: Grade XII—Consists of 25 students and this division uses the laboratory as a home room. There are no desks in this room so that all books and equipment have to be kept in the lockers.

Division four: Grade XI—Enrolls 45 students and Division 5—Grade XI, has 44. These classes use rooms 3 and 6 respectively.

Division 6: Grade X—Is registered in room 8, and has 43 on the roll, while Division 7, Grade X, in room 5, has 44 children. The commercial class in Grade X is registered in the typing room and this class also must use lockers for keeping books and equipment. The enrollment in this division has to be less than 30 because of the number of typewriters.

Creates Problem
Mr. Logie pointed out in his report that while the classes can be handled for registration purposes, the difficulties are more evident when the classes are divided for options. The laboratory is used for teaching purposes for at least six periods of each day, which creates a problem in the matter of doing the necessary laboratory work in the scientific subjects.

Nine classes must use the laboratory for considerable time to complete their work.

School Patrols Are Suggested As Safety Measure for Children

Police Warn Motorists to Take Greater Care In Driving

If motorists persist in exceeding the speed limit through zone sections of the city, prosecutions will be pressed to the fullest extent, it was indicated in police court circles this morning.

Since children returned to school over a week ago several near accidents have been reported and motorists are not using enough care when the children are going to and from school. As a means of overcoming this difficulty, it has been suggested that school patrols be organized in the city, and it is believed this will overcome the hazard to a certain extent.

Civic Centre Would Give City Best Waterfront On Continent Says Town Planning Official

Bartholomew and Associates Suggest Public Buildings Where Lumber Yard Now Stands—Project Would Include Arena, Auditorium, City Hall And Court House—Develop Lake Front Between Civic Centre And City Park

IF THE recommendations of the Harland Bartholomew and Associates are accepted by the City of Kelowna, this Orchard City will undoubtedly have one of the outstanding waterfronts on the North American Continent.

The town-planning organization, which has made a careful study of the city, submitted a comprehensive report to the Civic Centre Committee Monday afternoon which calls for the taking over of all property bounded by Mill and Doyle Avenues between Water and Ellis Streets. Under a long range program, plans call for the erection of an auditorium, curling rink, arena, City Hall, combined court house and clinic, and a combined public library and museum. All the buildings would be attractively finished, and would be surrounded by lawns and trees, with ample parking areas for automobiles.

Russell H. Riley, principal associate of the Bartholomew firm, explained the details of the plan, and strongly advised the city to purchase the entire piece of land. He said all the buildings need not be constructed at once but the project could be stretched over a period of from ten to fifteen years. He pointed out the unique position Kelowna holds overlooking Okanagan Lake, and said, with careful study and planning, this city could undoubtedly be made into one of the most beautiful places on the North American continent. He said tourists would forever talk about the Orchard City, if it took the present opportunity of development.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mayor James Pettigrew, chairman, and L. R. Stephens, secretary, agreed that another meeting of the Civic Centre Committee should be called in the near future, and the recommendations will then be placed before the City Council.

On the plan submitted by Mr. Riley, Pendozi Street would terminate at Mill Avenue, and a large auditorium would be built along Doyle Avenue, in view of Pendozi Street. On the right hand side, the carefully laid out grounds would be an arena, at the rear of which a curling rink would be constructed. To the left, near the corner of Mill Avenue and Water Street, a combined City Hall, Court House, clinic, library and museum has been suggested. The City Hall would be a one or two storey building, and the court house would be extended on one wing, and the library and museum on the other. Streets around the square city block would be widened to 85 feet to allow ample parking, while in the vicinity of the arena, auditorium and curling rink, a parking lot of 125 by 150 feet, while the arena would be 265 feet by 150 feet. The curling rink, which it was indicated could be built later, would be 175 feet by 100 feet.

Beautiful Water Front
Mr. Riley visualized a beautiful water front extending from the City Park to the Civic Centre. He commended the Civic Centre Committee and said very few cities in Canada or the United States have a comparable water front to Kelowna. "You have an unusually fine opportunity, and I strongly urge you to acquire the necessary property even if you have to hold it."

Mr. Riley also recommended that the present ferry wharf be moved north of the city, to its present position or that it be docked south of the City Park. "It is our belief if you connect the City Park to the new civic area, it would be one of the best waterfronts in the world."

Troubles Started Premature For Butcher
A harassed local butcher started off on the wrong foot even before meat rationing came into effect.

Last Saturday as he stepped out of a local bank after collecting four boxes of meat tokens, one of the containers slipped from his hand, and the street was littered with the green tokens.

Sympathetic citizens however, came to his rescue and assisted in picking them up. Now his real worries are just starting, what with the technical details connected with meat rationing.

GEORGE ABBOTT NOW RECOVERING
Condition of George Abbott, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Abbott, 306 Pendozi, is improving rapidly, and he is now out of danger, according to Dr. Gordon Wilson, attending physician.

Abbott was injured in an automobile accident at the corner of Pendozi and Cadder Avenue on September 9, when he collided with another automobile at the intersection.

Delay In Payment Of Veterans' Service Gratuity Is Criticized
Citizens of Kelowna and servicemen themselves learned something about the technical details of Canada's rehabilitation program when Charlie M. Defieux of the Vancouver Sun's Veterans' Bureau, addressed a public meeting in the Canadian Legion Hall on Monday night.

Mr. Defieux, a returned man himself, has made a careful study of the rehabilitation program, and is making a tour throughout the Okanagan Valley addressing public meetings and explaining the operation of the program to those interested.

The speaker gave a general outline of the scheme, and although he admitted it is an ambitious program, the authorities also were criticized for delaying payments of veterans' gratuities and for lack of housing accommodation for returned men. He dealt at great length with the Veterans' Land Act, and pointed out that conditions vary throughout Canada due to various types of climate, industry, etc.

Referring to the Veterans' Land

Act project now underway in Kelowna, the speaker said conditions in the Okanagan Valley are entirely different from other parts of Canada. "The Lands Act is a long range phase of rehabilitation, and for that reason future conditions must be taken into consideration."

Abbott was injured in an automobile accident at the corner of Pendozi and Cadder Avenue on September 9, when he collided with another automobile at the intersection.

Conditions here are of special character, he said, and it is imperative that the Act be adapted to fruit farming. He was of the opinion that the increased cost of bringing the land into production must be met by assistance of an additional, however, and more time be given in paying the installments off.

Housing Accommodation
Mr. Defieux said that the major problem facing the Vancouver Sun Bureau is housing accommodation.

KELOWNA TWINS COMING HOME

Very seldom did the R.C.A.F. allow twin brothers to go into combat duty with the same squadron. However, exception to the rule was apparently made regarding two Kelowna youths who are pictured, above, standing beside their aircraft at an India based Liberator Squadron. Left to right, they are P/Sgt. D. R. and P/Sgt. D. W. Holton, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. B. Holton, 364 Richter Street, Kelowna, who are 20 years of age. They were attached to an R.A.F. squadron which flew in support of the 14th army that pushed the Japs out of Burma and Slam.

According to a telegram received last Saturday by their parents, they recently arrived back in England, and are now waiting transport to bring them back to Canada. The youths have been together since they enlisted in Vancouver two years ago. They took their early training at Edmonton and Prince Edward Island, going overseas last January. They were in England for about three weeks before being posted to the Far East.

RECORD VOTE IS INDICATED IN ELECTION

Lists In South Okanagan Constituency Expected To Total Nearly 8,000 Names

If registration of voters is any criterion, a record vote can be expected in the forthcoming Provincial election on October 25.

Although registration lists closed on Monday night, it is roughly estimated that close to 2,000 people made applications to be on the 1945 voters' list in Kelowna district itself. Officials and employees at the local Provincial office are now burning the "midnight" oil, sorting out the application forms prior to getting the new lists printed. Dr. C. W. Dickson, local registrar, said it will take several days before an accurate count is ascertained, and a considerable amount of checking is necessary in order to make sure an individual's name is not duplicated on the list.

It was estimated that between 500 and 800 people applied for registration at the Coalition campaign headquarters, while at the C.C.F. headquarters, a total of 524 people made application. Although no reports from these outside points to the Government office, Dr. Dickson said the number of new registrations would go into four figures. In addition to the returns from the local campaign headquarters, the provincial official said application forms are pouring into the local office from all other polling divisions in the South Okanagan constituency.

Reports from these outside points also indicate that more interest is being taken in the election this year.

Last Minute Rush
The first few days when the registration lists were opened, little interest was shown, it was stated, but the last minute rush started last Saturday, and on Monday, workers were kept busy throughout the day and late in the evening. On Monday, turned up at the Provincial office Tuesday morning, and when told the election lists closed on Monday night, he politely smiled and walked away.

In the last election a total of 7,300 names were on the South Okanagan election lists, but Dr. Dickson explained that by the time the lists are checked over, the names of deceased people and those who did not vote in the 1941 election, deleted, the lists would probably stand at about 6,000. He pointed out that the recent registrations were not all new voters, but that some registered after failing to vote in the last election. "The onus has been thrown on the voters this year, as there were no paid enumerators in the last election," Dr. Dickson said.

He gave a rough estimate of between 7,000 and 8,000 names would be on the voters' list before the lists are printed, the names will have to be triple checked to make sure that some individuals did not register twice. He said the public had ample number of low rental homes, he did not think they would be ready by winter even with the entire mobilization of contracting forces. Referring to the government removing the housing permit system in Vancouver, he said the veteran is now faced with competition from outside residents coming into the province. "Governments and persons had been rejected in their applications for accommodation. They are now free to enter the Coast cities to bask in retirement and with their accumulated savings, compete with the veteran and the small sum which represents his gratuity and re-establishment credit."

$130,000 Civic Arena Will Be Constructed In Honor of War Vets

Public Meeting Gives War Memorial Committee "Green Light" To Formulate Plans For Project—Look Into Possibility Of Combining Swimming Pool And Gymnasium With Ice Arena—Congratulate Committee For Hard Efforts—Building Will Be Finest In Okanagan Valley

Campaign Starts In December

THE Kelowna and District War Memorial Committee was given the "green light" at a public meeting last Friday night to go ahead and formulate plans for the construction of a Civic Memorial in honor of Great War II veterans. The meeting unanimously adopted the suggestion that an ice arena, costing in the neighborhood of $130,000, be built in the city, and efforts will be made to see if a combined gymnasium and swimming pool can be constructed on the same site, providing it is within the scope of raising public funds.

A campaign to raise the necessary funds will probably get underway the early part of December following the Ninth Victory Loan drive, and after the necessary funds are raised, construction of the arena will get underway. When completed, it will be one of the outstanding buildings in the Okanagan Valley, and it will be located in the main section of the city.

LOCAL YOUTHS ARE SENTENCED FOR BREAK-INS

Police Clear Up Mystery Of Two Robberies Here In Past Two Months

Two local juveniles were sentenced to an indefinite period in the Boys Industrial School, near Vancouver, after they were found guilty of forgery and breaking into Capozzi's Grocery Store and the Cascade Co-Operative Union, when they appeared before Juvenile Court Judge T. F. McWilliams, Tuesday afternoon. Both youths were on parole from the Industrial School as a result of previous convictions.

According to police, both youths worked as a team in their short wave of petty crimes in the city. On August 18 they broke into the Cascade Co-Operative Union and stole a total of $128.25, along with office supplies, stamps and several cheques. Later on September 8, they broke into the rear of Capozzi's Grocery Store and stole $50 from the cash register.

Working on the assumption that juveniles were responsible for the two break-ins, police kept a sharp look-out, and their first break came when the youngsters cashed one of the stolen cheques at a local store in the south end of the city. After questioning one of the youths, a full confession was made, and both boys were remanded to the Juvenile Court.

Both boys were employed by local business houses here. One of the youths was previously convicted in Juvenile Court for the theft of a car, while the other boy was sentenced to the Industrial School for breaking and entering.

In sentencing the youths, the Juvenile Court Judge said in view of the fact they were out on parole, they could not expect much sympathy or mercy. "I am making good my word that if you appeared before me again I would send you back for an indefinite period," the Juvenile Court Judge said.

Outline of Study
At the outset of the meeting, L. R. Stephens gave a brief outline of the study made by the committee. He explained that four projects had been considered. These were a gymnasium, swimming pool, auditorium and an ice arena. After careful study, he said the committee found there are reasonable facilities for a gymnasium here, while so far as a swimming pool is concerned, the Regatta provides a certain amount of recreation in this sport. He said the heating of a steady flow of water and the building of a suitable establishment until the matter had been life-guards were the main expenditures. He pointed out that the city needs an auditorium that would be capable of seating 1,200 to 1,500 with a sloping floor and fixed seats. He suggested that such an auditorium could be embodied in the proposed new school building. Referring to an ice arena, Mr. Stephens said such a project would serve a wide section of the community, and could be used for ice sports during the winter months, and roller skating in the summer. The total cost including a refrigeration unit, would be in the neighborhood of $130,000.

He said the finance committee had interviewed many business men and prominent residents and, after careful study, were of the opinion that the project would receive good support from the residents, and the committee concluded that they could raise the money from public subscription, business firms and societies. He said the contributions to the fund are deductible from income tax under the War Charities Act, and suggested that the campaign start the early part of December following the Ninth Victory

LOCAL SOLDIERS COMING HOME

Among local soldiers who are expected to be coming home this week, after arriving back in Canada aboard the ship "Scythia", with the next of kin listed after their names, are:

Cpl. S. D. McKillop, Mrs. A. McKillop, Westbank; Tpr. G. D. Polzin, L. A. Polzin, Kelowna; Sgt. C. G. Dunn, Mrs. E. J. Dunn, box 1212, Kelowna; Sgt. E. V. Lipinski, Mrs. M. Lipinski, Richter Street, Kelowna.

Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Kelowna, was an unexpected visitor in Kelowna on Wednesday. He is holidaying at Beaver Lake.

Junior Board Is Taking Leading Part In Forming Film Board Here

Establishment Of Council Is Valuable Asset To Community

The Junior Board of Trade is taking a leading part in the establishment of a film council in the city in co-operation with the National Film Board of Canada. A meeting was held Wednesday night in the Board of Trade rooms to which 35 local organizations were invited.

Plans were made for the setting up of a permanent committee in the city, with the secretary of the council acting as a booking agent for the films. The film libraries in British Columbia are located at National Film Board, Vancouver School Board, and the Extension Department of the University of British Columbia.

The establishment of a film library in Kelowna would be a valuable asset to the community. Any organization would be entitled to borrow the films at a very small cost, and it is believed a new interest would be taken in public meetings if a moving picture is shown. The objects of the film council are:

To encourage the establishment and growth of a film library; to promote the development of film societies; to co-ordinate the use of library with the volunteer projection service; to promote the use of films among adult organizations; to distribute information regarding sources of films; to arrange previews of selected films of functional value; to demonstrate utilization techniques through public discussions, film forums, radio forums, etc.; to co-operate closely with organizations taking part in local or national campaigns related to the war effort and to the work of social agencies.

A Canadian Flag

Prime Minister King has given notice to Parliament that the Government proposes that there shall be a distinctive Canadian flag, that the definition of Canadian citizenship should be revised and clarified, and that legislation respecting national status, nationalization and immigration, should be brought into conformity with the definition of Canadian citizenship.

The Courier welcomes these announcements. In these columns has been discussed the need for defining Canadian citizenship and dropping the innumerable hyphens and other "brands" of Canadian origin. A Canadian should be a Canadian, first and foremost. The better he becomes a Canadian, the better he is likely to be as a citizen of the British Commonwealth and citizen of the world of the United Nations.

It will take more than tact, it will take wise statesmanship to secure agreement on a national flag for Canada. That dangers lurk in this issue is obvious. The example of the Union of South Africa should certainly be before the eyes of our statesmen at Ottawa. In that sister Dominion, the flag issue embittered and bedevilled South African politics for a decade. There was disagreement in principle on the necessity for a flag. Happily, we believe, while there will be some disagreement in Canada on the principle involved, there will be much less than was the case in South Africa. But in the sister Dominion, a very bitter fight developed over the design of the flag. The original design which was proposed by the Nationalists under Hertzog included virtually no symbol of the Imperial connection. Even in the final design brought in as a compromise, British elements felt that the Union Jack had been reduced to the size of a mere pimple in the centre of what is basically a flag symbolizing the old Dutch republics. Artistically the South African flag is a miserable production.

During the war it appeared that Mr. King hoped that the Canadian Red Ensign—"the flag carried into battle by the Canadian army"—would become the national flag. It would appear from Mr. King's announcement that other designs at least will be considered. Mr. King's words on the delicate question merit verbatim quotation:

"My ministers believe that the position attained by our country among the nations of the world, like the other nations of the British Commonwealth, should possess a distinctive flag. You will be asked to appoint a select committee of members of both houses of Parliament to consider a suitable design for a Canadian flag."

"The government had directed that, pending approval by Parliament of a particular design, the Canadian red ensign which was the flag carried into battle by the Canadian army, and which was flown from the peace tower on V-day and VJ-day as a tribute to the valor of our armed forces and to Canada's achievements in war, may be displayed wherever place or occasion makes it desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag."

The Union Jack remains the flag of the United Kingdom and of the British Empire. It will always be loved and revered in Canada and it will always be displayed here with prominence and respect. But, by all means, let us have our own Canadian flag also. But, if it can possibly be avoided, let us not have the recurrence of a brawl over the design such as occurred in South Africa, rending the country as did the conscription issue in Canada.

That is why wise statesmanship will be needed at Ottawa. Tolerance and understanding will be needed also among all our people if we are to avoid another rift in national unity on this issue.

If the Japs have saved as little money as they have face, they must be bankrupt.

Let A Bad Thing Go

There seems to be some sentiment scattered through the nation for retaining the national registration as a permanent inventory. It clings, primarily, to the supposition that the registration card is of irreplaceable value to the citizen as well as officialdom and the routine business channels. Most of the arguments in favor stress the importance of the card as a means of personal identification and ignore what the card symbolizes.

Postal authorities, on the other hand, are said to take the view that there are so many counterfeit cards in circulation that the identification value has been lost. This can be an argument only against the present cards. It is a condition which can be corrected by a proper registration properly maintained.

Apparently assuming that all the present flaws would be overcome, there are some who plead for the retention of the card, suggesting that with time it can become a "badge of citizenship." If there must be badges of citizenship, we prefer them in the form of guarantees of, rather than threats to, civil liberties and the rights of the individual.

There is no point in denying that the registration card has certain petty advantages. But it seems necessary to recall how the national registration came to be taken. It was not for the purpose of providing identification cards. They were purely a by-product. The registration was held to determine the occupation and any alternative capabilities of all persons over the age of sixteen, in order that, as Prime Minister King told the House of Commons, the Government would have the information by which to direct the people into war work.

It was the cataloguing of the human resources of the nation, the first step in an emergency program of national selective service which, having adopted, the Government refused to develop. That the registration was inadequate for the purpose, that it only filled part of its functions, and these badly, are irrelevant to the question of whether it should remain a permanent, regularly amended inventory. What uses can it have, in the absence of an emergency, for which other institutions cannot be fashioned with less peril to individual freedom?

List them all and they come under the heading already provided by the advocates: "Identification." But to be completely serviceable, even as an identification mark, the registration card would have to be better documented than it is. It would require not only the name and address, but the picture and, possibly, the fingerprints of the bearer. In the past, the average citizen has been able to identify himself fairly satisfactorily without such aids.

As a permanent condition of citizenship, national registration becomes an internal passport system, the political abuses of which were thoroughly demonstrated in the pre-war tyrannies of Europe. It was the national registration which made the programs in Germany so easy and channelled tens of thousands to the concentration camps. It was the internal passport which guided the secret police of Russia and Italy in tracking the political infidels.

From a permanent registration can come regimentation and trespass without hindrance. Already the rights of the individual have been well trampled by Government regulation and bureaucratic order. As things stand, neither the registration roll nor the identification card is worth very much. But placed on a functional basis, they are things which Canadians can well do without.

Talk about achieving the impossible, the word "atom" is derived from two Latin words meaning "not cut" or "that which is indivisible." And now it has been split.

Back To School

The end of the war, the reconversion of industry, the return towards a peacetime normal, all have pointed out more keenly than ever the importance of keeping youth at school.

The young boy or girl today knows more, thinks more, reasons better than his parents did at the same age. Social freedom has increased, the means of spreading knowledge and news have improved, and all this has produced a teen-age group that is extraordinarily alert and intelligent. It would be a pity if this generation of youngsters were not to make the most of its opportunities. The new world needs thinkers. It needs men of great knowledge and perception. The new world needs educated men and women.

Factories are starting to let the younger ones go to make room for their elders, as well as veterans. Let us hope the boys and girls will turn their eyes schoolward now.

Another thing people will discover is that it costs more to run an automobile when there is no rationing than it did when rationing was in force.

Weeds In Kelowna

In many respects Kelowna is an extremely fine city and it boasts of its community pride and civic consciousness. However, many visitors during the current summer have had good cause to wonder about these vaunted assets when they have gazed upon the weeds in the vacant lots.

The vacant lots in this city have been and remain a disgrace to the city. All summer long, all types of weeds have grown, matured and spread their seeds unhampered and to their core's content. Any type of weed needing a chance to get a foothold and to propagate has had a ready welcome on any and all vacant lots within the city limits.

There is a civic bylaw which says that all noxious weeds must be cut and, if the owner fails to do this, the city may cut them and add the cost to his tax bill. Apparently this year the city has chosen to ignore this bylaw because neither the owners nor the city have made any attempt to keep the weeds down.

It is, of course, much too late to do anything this year. The thistles and the other weeds have already planted their seeds on the lawns and in the gardens. Household next summer will spend long hours in an effort to counteract this year's carelessness on the part of the owners of nearby vacant lots and the city.

Stockingless girls in sandals can at least show young fellows a clean pair of heels—but don't offend.

Time Marches Back

Signs are that along about the end of this month, the ersatz war clock will sound its alarm at having its hands deliberately set back an hour. But the hall clock probably will tuck back in reassuring grandfatherly fashion: "Oh, that's just an old pre-war custom. It used to happen to us every fall!"

Daylight-saving time never was universally popular even when in operation just for the summer. And the war time which has prevailed since the early part of the war has been barely endured for the sake of the war effort. Cows are reported to have moored their protest at being put on the swing shift. Mothers, in many sections, have had difficulty getting their children up and off to school in the dark and to bed in daylight. Early winter morning workers seldom were moved to poetic outbursts by the accompanying moonlight. Farmers have challenged the clock tinkers to provide a way of "evaporating the morning dew an hour earlier."

But warm protests have been outweighed by

One Man's Opinion

By The "Beaver"

NOW THAT THE WAR IS OVER, manufacturers of every conceivable tooling for the treatment of baldness, etc., are the only solution to the many ailments which mankind suffers during a normal life span. The other day a small pamphlet dealing with baldness found its way into my letter basket. "Which pattern of baldness will attack your hair?" is the title of the booklet, following which the author goes into great lengths of telling all and sundry the causes of baldness and why one should use this particular type of "cure all." I will admit that since R.P.M. left here two weeks ago to attend the Vancouver and Victoria Weekly Newspaper Association in Quebec, a few more grey hairs have probably taken their place in my rapidly-diminishing crop of hair, and I have a sneaking hunch that the pamphlet was very discreetly dropped into the basket by one of the office staff. However, the amusing thing about the pamphlet is that the various types of bald heads are carefully listed along with articulate drawings, while the author explains that if you are over 20, idiopathic alopecia (pattern nerve baldness) can begin to show in your hair.

AFTER CAREFUL STUDY of the matter, the author says there are six different patterns of baldness—M, O, U, C, and D. "Look at men around you—young men! You'll be amazed at the number who have the tell-tale 'M' in their hairline!" The pamphlet goes on to tell about the first type of baldness: "Walk into any restaurant, club or gathering of men and look carefully at their heads! You'll see dozens, scores, hundreds of them with pattern 'O' baldness," it continues. Apparently this pattern hits people who are in middle age. The "U" type is the first sign of baldness. The booklet explains, while the "U" pattern is generally noticeable well to the fore of the head. Apparently individuals who start with the "O" pattern, which is another sure sign, generally end up with the "D" style, or a combination of both. And so you have it folks! If you don't want to end up with a combined pattern of "MOVUCD", just start using some of Dr. Quackum's hair remover—I mean hair tonic!

LAST WEEK we published an interview with a high ranking Air Force officer who pointed out that one of the major handicaps in establishing an air service in the Okanagan Valley was the rough mountain terrain of the country. Unfortunately one or two people, who are keenly interested in post-war aviation, took exception to the article. They said it was a "stupid" and "disparaging" incentive toward starting such a service, and that the less said the better. Personally I don't quite see the point. Everybody knows there are mountains down here, and where there are mountains, extra flying

FORTY YEARS AGO

"An exceptionally heavy crop of pears and plums has been brought to our notice. The fruit in question was grown by T. W. Stirling, and an acre and a quarter of Bartlett pears gave a return of over 16 tons, while off an acre of Bradford plums 12 tons of fruit was secured. This is a crop that will be hard to beat. Taking the pears at their present price, it means a return of over $900 per acre, and the plums in the neighborhood of $1,000 per acre. Surely no one can deny the fact that Kelowna is a wonderful fruit producing district, although still in her infancy. The amount of fruit shipped from here is enormous and all the fruit packers are working overtime to keep the fruit moving."

"Messrs. Sullivan, Lord and Collett returned Tuesday from a successful trip to the first day of the opening of the duck season. They met with fair success, bringing home in the neighborhood of fifty birds. Another trip, consisting of Messrs. Bailey, Linton and Fraser, spent Labor Day in quest of the feathered denizens of the stubble. They also attended their efforts and they succeeded in bagging thirty-two birds. Other sports who took a day off report varying success. Billy Burton got a partridge and a chipmunk, but this bag was discounted by Hingston and Lemon, who claimed to have secured two mud hens and a hell-diver. J. Bowes also vaunted his success in bagging a quail and a quail after a good many shots and proudly bore him home."

"Physical drill was given to the Kelowna Volunteer Reserve for the first time last Friday evening, and the crowd of onlookers appeared to find pleasurable entertainment in the sight. It is said that the cracking of drums resembled the rattle of musketry, while the grunts and groans drawn by the performers were likened unto the moaning of wounded on the field of battle. But some people are so imaginative!"

"A communication dispatched this week from the secretary of the Kelowna Volunteer Reserve to the adjutant of the 102nd Regiment, R.M.R., at Kamloops, pointed out that since its formation the Kelowna Reserve had already contributed forty-two men to the overseas forces and to the Canadian Militia. The letter stated further that the total of the muster roll of the Reserve is now 152 and the average attendance at bi-weekly drill 125."

"The name of Lieut. C. M. Lucas appears amongst the wounded in a recent casualty list in Old Country newspapers reaching here this week. A letter also received here this week bears witness to the fact that this is C. M. Lucas who was for some time a resident in this city, where he followed his profession of land surveyor and civil engineer with Chas. Harvey. No particulars are apparently to hand. The regiment to which Lieut. Lucas was attached was the South Wales Borderers."

"Excavation for the foundation of a new building was started on Wednesday morning at the corner of Ellis Street and Cawston Avenue, just south of the old B.N. A.T. Co. factory. The structure, when completed, will be a modern and well equipped building for the evaporating of apples. The prime local mover in the affair is W. B. M. Calder, who, while on a recent trip in Eastern Canada, was successful in convincing several business men of the opening awaiting such an enterprise in the Okanagan. It was but natural that Kelowna, the real home of the apple, should be the spot selected for the site of the building and plant, and the Orchard City Evaporating Company therefore expects to be in full operation here by the middle of October. The machinery is ordered and shipped, the building is commenced, and everything is being done to hasten completion of the plant to position, so that this year's crop of apples can be handled. The capacity of the plant is roughly about 15,000 pounds of fresh apples daily."

"Work at the Dominion cannery is speeding up. The factory was run all day Sunday and on several days overtime was worked. The Rowcliffe cannery is making steady runs, considerable night work being carried on there. This factory needs more women peelers. The Occidental cannery is also making full runs, over one hundred people being employed."

"McIntosh apples have commenced to roll. They are now coming in freely to the local packing houses, which are all shipping a large variety of apples, a small quantity of tomatoes and very large amounts of onions."

"The High School was opened on Tuesday morning with a total attendance of 94 scholars: 40 beginners in Grade IX, 29 in Grade X, and 25 in Grade XI. Some of the students are from Alberta, and it is expected that several more will be entered in the course of a day or so."

"The Labor Day holiday on Monday was observed very quietly in town, there being no athletic events of cold statistics showing that war time has conserved 5,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric power, and war agencies have been adamant against repeal of the daylight-saving legislation. Now, with the war over, the hour has struck when Parliament can send the forward time marching back to civilian status. That is, unless continued fuel scarcity calls its redemption.

precautions have to be taken. The thoughts expressed by the air official were facts of long known standing. So far as establishing a flying service in the Okanagan, I'm all for it, and wouldn't attempt to discourage the idea. Granted there are technical problems that have to be worked out, but there is no reason on earth why these can't be overcome, and it will surprise me very much if something doesn't become of it before next spring. There are several groups interested in the scheme, and the meeting of the B.C. Interior Aviation Council in Vernon, on September 23, should be very interesting.

WE HAVE FIRST HAND information that one airline company would like to operate an airway from Vancouver to Lethbridge, Kamloops, Vernon, Penticton, Nelson and Trail. Which should make us all the more anxious to get airport facilities in Kelowna, as this city would be on the main route. I thought the air official made one remark that is worth while investigating. That is, if a suitable airport site cannot be located, why not investigate the feasibility of building an all-year-round floating runway on the more shallow part of Okanagan Lake? Although there is no heavy timber in the vicinity of Kelowna, it could easily be cut further up the lake and floated down here. On the other hand, if an airline company used the amphibian type of aircraft, such as the Canoe, as a combined freight and passenger service, aircraft could still be used. It would be necessary, of course, to build a floating barge for mooring purposes in order to service the aircraft with gasoline and oil. The Canoe is familiarly known in the Air Force as the "flying box-car", and this scribbler thinks it could be put to very good use in this part of the Valley, as it can carry a ton of fuel, and at the same time is fairly economical in gasoline consumption.

SEVERAL OTHER AIRLINE companies in the United States are studying the transportation and marketing factors for air-borne perishable traffic, and an article, written by J. Prescott Blount, Manager, Perishable Traffic, Air Cargo Department, United Airlines, Chicago, is very interesting as it affects the Okanagan as well. Mr. Blount referred to the famous We'dorf Astoria Hotel banquet last year to which every type of food had been transported by air from the Pacific Coast and mid-continent points. The bill of fare included King salmon and mushrooms from Vancouver. He observed that air-borne tree fruits such as peaches would be eaten as tree ripened, and it would be the first time that many consumers would ever eat tree-ripened fruit. In respect of the peach, for example, they would get the full sugar content, whereas at present the consumers get only one-third of the sugar content in a peach as against tree-ripened fruit. Again, fruit and vegetables could be picked at the stage of highest quality and food value.

any description. The weather was very pleasant, and many took advantage of the opportunity to see the orchards at the commencement in earnest of the apple picking season, the fruit now beginning to show the brilliant coloring which renders it so attractive, especially when set off by foliage."

"Many Kelowna people took advantage of the delightful weather on Sunday last to visit two features of interest situated conveniently close together, namely, the end of C.N.R. steel and the large new packing house of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange in the Rutland district. A week or so ago the train was started on the packing house, and the children extracted much joy out of watching for the first time, in some cases, a real locomotive puffing, blowing and tooting. One of the two graders had been set in the packing house and packing operations commenced next day under the superintendence of A. W. Gray, foreman."

"For the past few days tracklaying on the Kamloops-Kelowna branch of the Canadian National Railway has made rapid progress, two miles being laid on Saturday, when steel rails and ties were put in place at Rutland of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange. Work was carried on steadily this week, and when the labors of the day commenced this morning at eight o'clock the tracklaying train was at the sandhill at the crossing of the north road to Glenmore, about a mile and a quarter from the station site in town. It was then hoped to complete the remainder of the main line by four o'clock this afternoon and, acting upon this, arrangements had been made for a celebration of the notable event. The school children were to be given a half-holiday so as to assemble at the station where the last spike was to be driven with due ceremony, probably by His Worship Mayor D. W. Sutherland, and the construction gang would be treated to supplies of choice fruit. However, the proverbial slip between the cup and the lip has occurred, and the celebration has had to be postponed until tomorrow afternoon (Friday) at 3:00 p.m., when as many as can possibly attend are expected to do so. The reason is due to a mishap to the locomotive (No. 416) of the tracklaying train. Everything went with a swing for a little while this morning until the train had passed just inside the city limits, when the track sagged in a marshy spot under the great weight of the engine, which was too much for the few ties laid down, and the locomotive got off the track, almost turning over on its side. It was necessary, of course, to suspend all work on the track while gangs of husky laborers strove with sledgehammers and other tools to get the engine and locomotive back on the rails. It is hoped to accomplish this task this afternoon and to proceed with the work so that the ceremony can be carried out tomorrow afternoon at the hour stated."

"One hundred and seventy-four residents of Okanagan Mission voted on beer by the glass on Thursday last, when a plebiscite was held. Ninety opposed its sale, eighty voted for it and there were four spoiled ballots. Thus the Mission has fallen in line with Kelowna and prefers to remain dry."

Owing to a reduction of 2½ cents a gallon granted by the oil companies operating in British Columbia, the retail price of standard gasoline in Kelowna was reduced to 37 cents per gallon.

To relieve the congestion at the Kelowna Junior High School, which was overcrowded due to a marked increase in the school population, the School Board decided to convert a section of the library into a class room and to add another teacher to the staff.

Color requirements on domestic McIntosh apples were reduced to fifteen per cent from twenty per cent by the Tree Fruit Board because of the fact that crops in most districts were somewhat slow in coloring.

The drug and stationery business of P. B. Willis & Co., Ltd., established in Kelowna for thirty-three years, was sold by the principal partners, P. B. Willis and A. M. McKay, to E. T. Abbott, of Armstrong, effective October 1st.

The Vernon City Club became cricket champions of the Okanagan and won the Superior Cup by defeating the Vernon Farmers eleven in the deciding match on September 8th by a margin of 21 runs.

Sixty-three marksmen attended the annual competition for the Gilbey Spey-Royal Shield, emblematic of the team championship of the Interior, which was held on the Glenmore rifle range on September 8th in ideal weather. After a very close race between the two leading teams, Vernon succeeded in wresting possession of the shield from Kamloops, winners in 1934, by a margin of four points. The match was shot over the 200, 300 and 400 yards distances, and Vernon secured the fine average of 92.2 points per man. The Kelowna No. 1 team was placed fourth. The Haug Cup, for individual grand aggregate, was won by H. P. Brown, of Armstrong, with a total of 97 out of a possible 105.

r.p.m.'s column

DEAR RONNIE:—Well, here I am in Quebec and looking over one of the world's finest views. One that is definitely one of my favorites—out over Dufferin Terrace, over Quebec's Lower Town, over the St. Lawrence down the river to the Island of Orleans. It is particularly fine this morning as the sun is just coming up over the Laurentians in the distance, and everything is covered with that misty morning glow which promises a fine early fall day. It is just seven o'clock, and the C.S.L. ship from Montreal is just pulling into the wharf, while the Levis ferries are jogging merrily and busily back and forth across the river. It's nice, Ronnie, but I could do without it all this morning. You see, half a dozen of us were entertained aboard a frigate last evening, and I didn't think we would be so late or the entertainment so lavish. Incidentally, a couple of the officers were Victoria chaps. I had planned to write this late last night, but I did not estimate the frigate and her wiles correctly. And as I borrowed a typewriter under solemn oath that I would have it returned by eight-thirty this morning, well here I am . . .

GUESS, IF I AM to bring you up-to-date and do so sensibly, I had better start at the beginning and tell you the interesting bits right from the time we left Kelowna. It has been an interesting trip, and has been lots of fun and, to be honest, we have been very lucky right down the line. My advice, though, to anyone travelling is to stay at home. On the train out of Kelowna to Sicamous was Travers Colman, C.P.R. public relations man for the west, from Winnipeg. He had in tow a chap from Liberty magazine and was rushing him quickly through the Valley. The readers of Liberty may, therefore, in a month or so, see something about the Okanagan. We joined parties and had a very pleasant evening at Sicamous. We had excellent weather all the way across, although it was hot. There were eighteen cars on the train and we used three engines a great deal of the time through the mountains. The train was packed, but the dining car service was good and the meals were excellent . . .

WE REACHED OTTAWA on Monday morning and found it bright and warm. I really do mean hot. The Chateau Laurier thermometer said 86 in the middle of the afternoon, but the humidity was high and it was all most uncomfortable, especially since one had been on a train several days and was longing for a bath. I spent the morning on business calls and rounded them out, being very lucky in making my contacts. Evelyn looked up a former Montreal friend now living in Ottawa and had a fine morning sight seeing with her. Funny, isn't it, it was only a couple of weeks ago that one would have felt embarrassed about using a person's gas for sight-seeing trips, but now one does not give a thought to it. . . . At noon at the Chateau, we met the Phil Galbraiths, from Red Deer, also en route to the C.W.N.A. meeting at Quebec. And we had a chat with Aubrey Roberts, of Vancouver. You remember he was executive editor of the Province. In the afternoon we went up to the "Hill" and listened in for a while to the opening addresses in the debates, on the throne speech. We heard Bracken, King and Coldwell, and in the question period, several of the ministers and big bugs of the Oppositions. It was new to Evelyn and quite an experience. As a matter of fact, it was an excellent day to be there as the three leaders spoke, and in the morning, the union delegation had been refused admittance to the building and created a bit of a fuss. I happened to be in the Metropolitan Life building across the street, and saw there was some excitement and drifted over in time to see some of it . . .

During the morning I ran into Gordon Haug right in front of the memorial and chatted for a few minutes. He is hoping to be discharged and be back home very shortly . . . Maybe I am a bit of a sentimentalist, but one of the thrills I had in Ottawa was seeing the red ensign flying from the peace tower of the Parliament Buildings. Before it had always been the Union Jack and it did seem to hit me hard that there was our own flag, ours and no one else's; temporarily, perhaps, but Canada's official flag, now at least . . .

r p m

SPEAKING OF THAT, it was rather interesting to note that the flag being flown on the Legislative building of Quebec is not the Canadian flag, but the Union Jack, and despite the fact that the Red Ensign is the Canadian flag and is being flown as such in Ottawa, the Dominion government buildings here in Quebec are flying the Jack. It is interesting to me as I would have expected Quebec to change to the Ensign just as soon as it was declared by officials. In any event, the Jack is not correctly flown now. I wonder about the Kelowna post office? . . . But to get back to my story. In Ottawa we saw Hon. Grose Stirling briefly. He seemed well and in good spirits . . . One of the highlights of the Ottawa visit was seeing the model of "mulberry". That was the code name of the harbor built for the invasion of France. I saw part of them building in England when I was there, so was particularly interested in seeing these scale models which were used in the planning of the landings on D-day. If any Kelowna persons happen to be in Vancouver when this model is there, they should take advantage of the opportunity of seeing it, as it is well worth an hour . . . Leaving Ottawa on the evening train for Montreal, we had a break. They put the chair cars back on that day after four years' absence, and we managed to get the last two chairs. It made the trip much more enjoyable and liveable, but even so it was hot. I will never forget the blast of heat which hit us when we stepped out of the air-conditioned car into the Montreal station. You could actually feel it against your face. It was unusual, of course, but they had had it for five days, high heat and high humidity, and that is a bad combination . . .

WE HAD RESERVATIONS at the Windsor, but that did not mean a thing. You have no idea of hotel accommodation in Montreal. That night there were at least fifty persons still trying to get rooms at the Windsor at midnight, and we saw actually hundreds turned away. I said reservations did not mean a thing. It did not for dozens, but for us it meant that we did get a place to sleep. We sat in Dominion Square to get cool and rested for a couple of hours. We did not want to do anything else and we wanted a bath just as soon as we could get our room. Once an hour I would go back and check to see if the room was ready yet, and finally about eleven managed to get it . . . Before telling you about the room, though, I do want to say we enjoyed that spell in Dominion Square. Every bench was crowded, and we waited our chance to get part of one when a man moved. It was as good as a show. Did you read "Earth and High Heaven"? It was a story about a gentle girl marrying a Jewish chap and the problems they met. Well, that same situation was being re-enacted at the other end of the park bench. I eavesdropped for an hour and was thoroughly entertained. The girl was a nurse from the west, and the chap was a Montreal Jew. Across the walk from us was a young petty officer of the Navy who spent most of the evening trying to persuade a young

Using the slogan "Six Years For War—Six Months For Peace" Mrs. Clara McEachern, National Chairman of the Women's War Work Committee, because of mounting relief needs in Europe, Britain and the Far East, today issued an urgent call to all Red Cross women workers throughout Canada to stay at their posts or "on call" for at least another six months.

Gratefully recalling the contribution made by the women of Canada to the Society's war effort, Mrs. McEachern expressed her confidence that these women, who had made over 45,000,000 Red Cross supplies and comforts for the Forces and civilian relief during nearly six years of war, would not stand by and let millions of destitute people in Europe suffer this winter for want of their help.

Mrs. McEachern stated: "There is a feeling abroad that because the war is over, the work of the Red Cross is completed. This is definitely not the case with Women's War Work of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

"We are rejoicing in the return of our men, but the cause for which they fought and for which many died could be imperilled by our failure to bear our share in healing the wounds of war-torn Europe. We cannot individually send them many of the things required, but we can, from materials in our possession, make warm garments and hospital supplies. This winter is when women in Red Cross workrooms and in their homes, can help bridge the gap between the cessation of hostilities and the re-establishment of European industries.

"Great Britain, too, with its self-imposed, Spartan program, still needs our help. In addition, Red Cross must hold itself in readiness for possible further calls for assistance for repatriates from the Far East.

"The women of Canada have given Red Cross six years for war. We ask them to give six months for peace."

DDT RESULTS ARE HELPFUL

According to the latest issue of the Forest Insect Investigation Bi-monthly Progress Report, Division of Entomology, Science Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, the results of the experimental aeroplane spraying operations with DDT (dichlorodiphenyl-trichloroethane) in the Kabonga area in the Province of Quebec may be considered successful, inasmuch as they yielded the needed information on both dosage and technique of application.

However, results in percentage of control were variable, ranging from 20 to 99 per cent, the principal difficulties consisting of drifting of the spray through air currents and excessive atomization. The best results were obtained from dosage of 3 pounds of DDT in 3 gallons of diluent and 5 pounds of DDT in 5 gallons of diluent. These mixtures gave between 96 and 99 per cent control.

In general, the work accomplished at Kabonga, states the report, while proving that DDT kills the budworm both in its early and later stages of development, points to the need for a great deal of further study on methods of application.

The time-tested method of using a piece of chewing-gum on the end of a stick to recover lost articles from narrow spaces succeeded in getting back a valuable diamond ring, which was lost by a passenger on a C.N.R. train bound for Grand

Beach, Manitoba. Miss Helen Moss, of Winnipeg, was pulling off her gloves on the train when the ring dropped from her finger and became wedged between a set of pipes.

C. C. McSwain, trainman, obtained some gum and soon recovered the ring.

An Alsatian pup and a chow being given their evening walk by their owners became friendly and entertained us with their antics and formed a good excuse for the chow's master and the Alsatian's good-looking mistress to become friendly.

High overhead, the Sun Life building was floodlighted and sharply marked against the black sky was a Union Jack, twenty-two stories up. It was really a beautiful sight and one to be seen to be appreciated, but once seen, to be remembered.

There were sixty-seven chairs by actual count and fifty-two glasses, three large tables and nothing else except two cots. But we were in luxury as there were dozens of people sleeping in the halls and bathrooms. The washrooms, which were a city block away, were as crowded as a Regatta dance. It was an experience and fun—for one night.

DEATH CLAIMS WELFARE WORKER

Mrs. Mabel G. Meredith, founder of St. Christopher's School in North Vancouver, died in the Kelowna Hospital last week at the age of sixty-six years.

She was well known in Vancouver for her charitable work, and was responsible for opening a school for mentally backward children in North Vancouver about 15 years ago. Her death came as a cruel blow to the 20 children at the school, who looked upon her almost as a mother.

VERNON NEWS IS NAMED BEST WEEKLY PAPER

Courier Has Not Entered Any Competitions For Last Two Years

The Vernon News was awarded the 1945 Mason trophy for the best all-around Canadian weekly newspaper with a circulation of 2,000 or more. It also placed third in the competition for best front page. The awards were announced at the annual convention of the Board of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association in Quebec.

The Courier has not entered the competition for the past two years. In 1943, R. P. MacLean was president of the newspaper association, while last year, due to lack of help and shortage of newspaper, the management of the Courier again decided not to enter any competitions.

The Penitentiary Herald won third place in the contest for best editorial page among papers of more than 2,000 circulation.

MINING MEN MEET AT COAST

The regular annual meeting of the B.C. Division, C.I.M., will be held October 25th and 26th in Hotel Vancouver. It will be attended by the President and Secretary of the Institute, representatives of the Mining Departments of the Dominion and western Provincial Governments, and by several national figures in the mining industry.

The importance of mineral production and the role of the engineer in post-war reconstruction and rehabilitation will, no doubt, attract wide attention at this time. Subjects to be given serious consideration include:

Application of science to mining, beneficiation, and utilization of Canadian metals and minerals, including fuels.

Reconversion of the various industries based on minerals and metals.

Expansion of investigation and knowledge pertaining to Canadian mineral resources.

Re-establishment of personnel through reconversion and expansion.

The air is good, and healthful here Most people very nice, But business men are awful cold They put us on the ice.

A wee bit fish or lettuce green A bite of bread to eat, Or something such as grows on trees Even, an ear of wheat.

That would stem the hunger aching And make us all feel good, A little something that is clean A something that is food.

The business men of high degree Say this we must not get, Because the labor is so scarce No table will we set.

So we must stay at home henceforth And make us all feel good, When travellers take another route And bankrupt these smart guys.

M. CLYDESDALE, Calgary.

While the prospect of a postwar crime wave is discounted by some, most informed Canadians interviewed by The Financial Post expect such an outbreak. They suggest vigorous measures to curb juvenile delinquency, strengthen police protection, reform prisons and provide recreational, educational and employment opportunities.

STRIKES HOLD UP PRODUCTION OF CAR TIRES

Automobile Rubber Will Remain Scarce For Many Months To Come

Canada's rubber industry is hoping for a production program that will turn out 240,000 tires a month during 1946—50% above the level of 1945—providing no material shortages or disruptions due to labor disturbances upset the schedule.

What that means to the Canadian motorist is this:

If he has any reasonable claim to being an essential driver (during 1940) he will get all the tires he needs.

If everything goes well, there should be about two tires available for each of the 400,000 non-priority cars over the year.

Meanwhile, tires for your car are still scarce and are likely to remain scarce for some months.

The immediate shortage is due to disappointing tire production during July and August. One plant was out of production for 10 of the month of August due to strike conditions. Others ran short even after liberal allowance for holiday interference.

ADVISES PUBLIC TO HOLD BONDS

"The man who sells a previously purchased Victory Bonds merely to raise the money to buy one in the coming loan is contributing nothing to the national effort," declares The Financial Post editorially. "Neither is the bond salesman who advocates such a course."

Someone or some financial institution must take the old bond off his hands and therefore no new money comes to the help of the country. Quotas raised by these means are hollow and expensive victories.

The object of this new loan, and all those preceding it, is twofold, first, to raise new money to finance the war effort, second, to drain off surplus purchasing power to prevent inflationary price competition for scarce goods.

"The important thing for the average individual is to plan to buy bonds out of current savings. This time the loan must bear largely on the small investor because the big companies and financial institutions, which were major subscribers to previous loans, now face the immediate task of converting industry from war to peace."

WILL CONTINUE OPERATING RED CROSS BRANCHES

Plan Peace-Time Program For All Of 98 Branches in British Columbia

Continued operation of every one of the 98 Red Cross branches in British Columbia is anticipated by P. S. McKernow, president of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Mr. McKernow has just returned from a meeting of the national executive committee in Toronto, where plans and discussion centred around the peacetime program of the organization.

Only 14 of this province's Red Cross branches existed before the war, states Mr. McKernow. He stresses the fact that 84 of the branches, which have worked on a wartime basis, will need to change their program to peacetime work.

"In this period of transition," he states, "members and officers of these groups are asked to continue their work so that many pressing tasks, confronting the Society, may be carried out successfully."

"In addition to the immediate work concerned with the comfort and re-establishment of returning personnel and their dependents, as well as the making of clothes for the destitute in Britain and Europe, there is a comprehensive peacetime program being developed. This will be offered to branches for their adoption," he says.

Distinguished Army Officer Appointed To New C.N.R. Post

Brigadier R. A. Wyman Takes Over Duties Of Industrial Agent

Brigadier Robert A. Wyman, C.B.E., D.S.O., E.D., who commanded the 2nd Canadian Armoured Brigade in the recapture of France and retained that command until he was wounded, has been appointed Industrial Agent of the Canadian National Railways for British Columbia, according to an announcement made recently by W. T. Moodie, General Superintendent of the B.C. district. Brigadier Wyman will make his headquarters in Vancouver and it is expected he will arrive here by the end of September to take up his new duties.

The establishment of an industrial office in Vancouver is a recognition by the company of the growing industrial activity and expansion British Columbia will participate in following return from war to normal business conditions, stated Mr. Moodie.

Brigadier Wyman has had a lengthy service with the Canadian National as he started in Edmonton as a call boy in June, 1918, at the age of 14. He worked at this job for a few years and looking over his record it is interesting to note that three times during the first three years of service he "resigned to return to school."

He returned permanently to the company and for two years was a checker. In 1924 he became a clerk in the office of the superintendent of transportation and in 1928 he was appointed timekeeper. On November 7, 1929, he took leave of absence to take active duties with the Royal Canadian Artillery and remained in service until August of this year.

Joined As Gunner

Brigadier Wyman has long been connected with artillery work as he enlisted in the 92nd Field Regiment, R.C.A., in Edmonton as a gunner in 1921. In 1924 he held the rank of Captain and was second in command. In 1924 he was promoted to the rank of Major and given command. Under his guidance the battery won the Governor General's Cup in 1930 and in 1935, which signified first honors for efficiency. In 1937 he was appointed Lieutenant-Colonel and given command of the 20th Field Brigade.

At the outbreak of war in September, 1939, he was placed in command of the 3rd Field Regiment, R.C.A., of the 1st Division and moved overseas. Here he participated in the lengthy period of training for the defence of Britain with the Canadian forces.

In 1941, he was returned to Canada with the rank of Brigadier to command the support group of the 5th Armoured Division. In 1942 he was appointed to succeed Major-General Worthington in England in command of the 1st Canadian Army Tank Brigade and took his command to Italy in 1943. He went through the Italian campaigns until the completion of the Ortona campaign in February, 1944.

Centre of Fighting

He was returned to England to assume new duties as Brigadier, Royal Armoured Corps on General Crerar's staff at Army Headquarters. During the planning for the invasion of France, and at the request of Field Marshal Montgomery, Brigadier Wyman was appointed to command the 2nd Armoured Brigade for this operation. He landed on D-Day with his formation.

The troop were in the centre of all activities up to the break out south of Caen and it was during this operation that he was badly wounded in the right arm while out at the head of his tanks. He was returned to Canada in September for a lengthy period of hospitalization, and this spring took an active part in the 8th Victory Loan campaign, speaking at many points in Western Canada.

R. A. WYMAN, C.B.E.

Brigadier and Mrs. Wyman and their two children are expected to arrive in Vancouver around the end of this month and will reside there in future.

REGISTERED NURSES RENEW MEETINGS

The Kelowna Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia made plans for a Telephone Bridge at the first fall meeting of the organization, which was held on Tuesday evening, September 11th, at the Nurses' residence on Strathcona Avenue.

Mrs. Carl Brunette is the convener in charge of the affair, which will be held on Friday, October 5th, and all proceeds will be used by the association to further their various activities.

Miss Heather Anne Betstone, the Chapter President, was appointed to represent Kelowna at the fall district meeting to be held in Kamloops on Friday, October 19th.

At the close of the business meeting, a travelling picture film was enjoyed.

THINKS LAKE SPAN POSSIBLE

In view of so much discussion regarding the feasibility of building a bridge across the Okanagan Lake to Westbank, a picture showing a bridge spanning Lake Washington has been received at the Courier office from H. Waldron, of Kelowna. Mr. Waldron points out that the bridge is over two miles long—probably built on pontoons—"which shows that our lake could be bridged if built in spans; moveable so as to allow the passage of freight boats."

Although the winter weather would have to be taken into consideration when the lake freezes over, Mr. Waldron added that in Europe the army was able to span large rivers in a few hours, and that such a type of bridge could be considered here.

Husband: "You're not economical enough in these times; you will have to alter or else you will ruin me."

Wife: "Well, if you don't call a woman economical who saves her wedding dress for a possible section, and this spring took an active part in the 8th Victory Loan campaign, speaking at many points in Western Canada."

During the recent London meeting of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Council, Canada was unanimously voted in as a member of its central committee along with France. Previously only the United States, the United Kingdom, China and the U.S.S.R. were members.

FLYING CLUB IS ORGANIZED AT PENTICTON

J. W. Johnson Elected President South Okanagan Flying Club

J. W. Johnson was elected president of the South Okanagan Flying Club at a meeting of members held in Penticton last week. Mr. Johnson has taken a leading part in the formation of the organization and has been actively interested in aviation development in Penticton for many years.

Wilson Hunt was chosen vice-president; "Barney" Bent, secretary, and James B. Feeney, treasurer. Dr. A. W. Vanderburg, Summerland, W. Guerdard, Jim English and J. Dalrymple comprise the other members of the executive. It was stated that the government would, on application from a duly organized flying club, erect hangars from surplus war stocks. This is being done in Chilliwack, it was stated, and it was decided to follow up the suggestion.

Steps have been taken to apply for a charter affiliation with the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association. Arrangements are also being made to incorporate under the Societies' Act.

WHALE INDUSTRY WOULD EMPLOY 20,000 PEOPLE

Negotiations are continuing with a view to development of a whaling industry in Canada, with leading overseas whaling experts brought to Canada. It has been contended that construction in Canada of only two floating whaling "factories" would provide employment, directly and indirectly, for some 20,000 Canadians.

Prior to the war, the world whaling fleet consisted of 44 floating factories, or mother ships, to each of which were attached from six to nine smaller boats, or catchers. During the war, these ships were used for war purposes, and almost all of them were sunk.

Britain, for instance, which had 12 whaling factories, lost them all, and now has only two German ships, which are being operated for the British Government.

Aggregate sales by War Assets Corporation up to August 15 amounted to $28,826,230.

National Clothing Drive Opens Throughout Canada On October 1

Canadians Are Asked To Donate Used Clothes To People Of Europe

"No one in this country can contemplate for a moment the conditions of distress, disease, anarchy and bloodshed that would result if the liberated nations had to face the next twelve months without assistance." This was the declaration made by the Right Hon. Ernest Bevin, Britain's Foreign Secretary, when he told the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in London that Britain's new Labor Government would stand behind the efforts to aid the liberated countries of Europe.

The people of Britain suffered much during the last six years of war. They were in the front line all the time. Hundreds of thousands of civilians, as well as members of the Armed Forces, gave their lives in the effort to bring democracy and peace to the world. Now that the victory has been won, the British people are not sitting back and saying, "We have done our share, let somebody else carry the load of rehabilitation of the devastated countries of Europe will entail."

They are willing to carry on, even though thousands of them have lost their homes and all their belongings. The people of Canada, who have been spared so much of the miseries of modern warfare, are also willing to carry on, and bear some of the load. Through the Dominion Government they can and will supply foodstuffs that are so badly needed. But the opportunity for personal service on the part of individual citizens is something else. There are thousands of Canadians who have felt that they have not made that personal sacrifice which seemed to be called for in an all-out war effort. Perhaps the fault has not been theirs. Opportunities for personal service for those who could not join the armed forces or work with Red Cross groups and similar organizations, were not numerous.

But now their big opportunity has come. Millions of men, women and children in the liberated countries are in rags. The clothes they wore when the enemy invaded their homelands and despoiled them of everything they possessed are worn to tatters. They have been patched and repatched, turned and returned until they are in shreds, and unless the disaster which Ernest Bevin envisioned is to be overtaken them, clothes of every kind must be found for them immediately.

Time does not permit, even if the material were available, for new clothes to be manufactured and sent to them. But used clothing, as long as it is serviceable, can fill the urgent need of these long-suffering people, and help tide them over the most difficult period of rehabilitation.

Realizing this, a dozen war relief organizations in Canada have joined together under the title of the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund to sponsor a National Clothing Collection on behalf of UNRRA to be made from October 1 to October 20. The Canadian people are asked to donate several million pounds of serviceable used clothing from their well-stocked wardrobes—clothes that they can spare, and which the people in the liberated countries will be glad to wear.

NO DELAY IN MOVING TROOPS SAYS STEPHEN

C.P.R. Vice-President Here For Visit While On Inspection Tour

The railways are handling returning service personnel as fast as they are being landed at Canadian Atlantic ports, and there is no bottleneck in transportation once troops are landed in Canada, George Stephen, Montreal, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated this week.

Mr. Stephen was a visitor in Kelowna during the course of a business tour. He arrived from Vancouver, and left the Orchard City for Eastern Canada last Friday. He was very much impressed with how Kelowna had grown during the past few years, pointing out the fact that he had been a regular visitor here for the past 25 years.

Referring to the transportation problem, the railway official said that even though the war is over, shipping space is much more difficult to obtain. He said the C.P.R. has four passenger ships operating at present on the seven seas, while before the war it had eighteen. Twelve of these ships have been lost as the result of enemy action, he remarked, and two were lost by mishap. According to agreement, the ships still operating would revert to company control six months after the end of the Japanese war, unless otherwise agreed on by the United Nations. The railway has a program lined up to re-build its fleet as soon as possible, Mr. Stephen said.

Dining Cars On its railways the company is putting sleeping and dining cars to civilian use between troop movements. This means that on some days sleepers and diners will be available and on others they will not. Everything possible is being done to avoid inconveniencing the travelling public any more than is absolutely necessary, he continued. Fifty per cent of the equipment used for the special troop trains from the ports of Quebec and Halifax is provided by the C.P.R. Mr. Stephen does not anticipate any difficulty in the movement of the fruit crops this year from the Okanagan Valley.

Although full reports on Vernon Days will not be available until later this month, preliminary statements indicate the net return from the two-day celebration will be around $8,200. The gross receipts are in the neighborhood of $17,000.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clippingdale Receive Many Calls From Friends

Living quietly in Vernon with their son-in-law and daughter, Assistant Postmaster and Mrs. J. Morrice, are Mr. and Mrs. William D. Clippingdale, formerly of Kelowna, who are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary on Wednesday, September 5th.

Crouched, North London, was where the couple were married fifty years ago. The groom being born in Romford, Essex, and his bride, the former Miss Edith Taylor, coming from the north of England. Thirteen years later, in 1908, they came from the ports of Quebec and Halifax to Canada and Vernon, where they resided for a year, going to Ashcroft in 1909. About 1917 Mr. and Mrs. Clippingdale returned to Vernon where they resided for several years. They made a short stay in Vancouver and after Mr. Clippingdale's retirement made their home in Kelowna. Latterly they have resided with Mr. and Mrs. Morrice.

They have two sons and two daughters. G. Clippingdale, of Vancouver; Cpl. Vernon Clippingdale, R.C.A.F., overseas; Mrs. Josephine Baker, Kelowna; and Mrs. Morrice, died as a girl, and is buried in the Vernon cemetery. Mr. Clippingdale, Jr., and his two sisters were with their parents on their golden wedding anniversary, which they celebrated quietly, receiving calls from numerous friends during the day. Mr. Clippingdale was manager of the Steam Laundry in Vernon many years ago. He was also active in the building trade and several houses in Vernon were built under his supervision. The pair have been life long members of the Presbyterian, later United Church. Mr. Clippingdale is a member of the A.O.T.S. in Vernon.

The federal government will depose and beautify Ottawa and Hull as Canada's national memorial to those who sacrificed their lives in World War II. Premier King received permission from General de Gaulle during his recent visit for the release of Jacques Greber, noted Paris architect, who will undertake the work.

LACK OF HELP CAUSES MAJOR HOSPITAL CUT

The shortage of trained nurses, due to service and other wartime demands, which has already closed some hospitals and led to drastic curtailment of services in others, has finally caught up with the Penticton hospital.

As a result, there will be some curtailment of services there. Maternity patients and urgent cases will be admitted, but those falling to come within these classifications will not be handled until the present emergency has eased somewhat.

In this action the matron and the hospital board have the co-operation of the local medical practitioners who have issued the following statement through their association:

"The Penticton Medical Association was called into a meeting by the Hospital Board to consider the present hospital emergency. The Hospital Board and management feel they can admit only urgent cases and maternity patients to the hospital until more nurses and help are available. We feel this regrettable situation is due to temporary conditions here and trust the Hospital Board will be able to remedy it within a month. Meanwhile we are willing to co-operate in this regard."

An emergency meeting of the hospital board, staff and doctors was held last week when it was decided to take this step.

Now It Can Be Told

Timberlands of B.C. Threatened By Japanese Incendiary Bombs

Rural areas of the Western Provinces, small towns and villages situated in the vast wooded regions of British Columbia and the expansive wheatlands of the Prairies, might have faced disaster from fires, had the Japanese been able to continue the war and their incendiary bomb attacks by balloon on Canada, it may now be disclosed.

The bombs, first of which were discovered at Minton, Sask., early in January of this year, cascaded down in unknown quantities from the Pacific coastline to the western Ontario border. Had these fiery loads not been smothered in the snowy vastness of the West, it is feared some rich areas would have fallen prey to this ingenious method of warfare.

About 57 per cent of British Columbia land area is heavily forested, including the most valuable wood tracts in the country. Approximately one-half of the bombs which might fall in Western Canada would land in wooded areas.

High Explosive

Some of the bombs were of the high explosive type but any which were detonated fell in open country and no material damage or loss of life occurred. The latest recovery of parts of the weapon was at McBride, B.C., on August 4. To date more than 250 recoveries have been made.

Possible death lurks in these areas in the form of unexploded anti-personnel and incendiary canisters dropped from these balloons which were believed to have originated in Japan. This menace to the camper, trapper or resident in rural areas of the West may remain for some time.

The self-destructing mechanism on many of the balloons did not function and the picnics, campers, and the like, gathered detail on what is described as the Japanese "silent V-weapon," can be just as dangerous as the unexploded bombs. Although no definite clue has been unearthed as to the object of these attacks, it is believed the Japanese eventually hoped to gain information on weather conditions, prevailing wind currents and behavior of their balloons for future systemized flights.

Silent Weapon

Research experts, inter-service bomb disposal squads, Air Force personnel, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, civilian police, Indian trappers and forest rangers, joined as a co-operative force to comb the great hinterlands of the West to recover and render the missile harmless. By plane, dog team, pack horse, and motor detail, the search for the "silent V-weapon" is described in one report.

R.C.A.F. pilots were successful in shooting down several of the balloons. An insight into the valuable part played by this branch of the armed services is described in one report.

A balloon was sighted by an R.C.A.F. crew, drifting towards Coal Harbour, B.C., in March. The crew forced it down intact using the slipstream of the aircraft as a steering guide. When it caught in a 200-foot tree, dynamite was used to bring it down.

The balloons, constructed of tough paper, 33 feet in diameter and carrying 19,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas, were designed to operate at a height of nearly five miles and to stay aloft for about one week.

This was done by an ingenious system of dropping ballast whenever the balloon dropped below its operational height. If the ballast went too high, gas was automatically released from the balloon. The mechanism, with its battery and aneroid barometers, was so arranged to release the bombs after all ballast had been dropped. Faulty mechanism prevented the self-destructing device operating and some balloons were recovered intact.

Lieut. Commander E. L. Borradaile, former C.P.R. steamship employee in the Orient service, Officer Commanding the Inter-Service Bomb Disposal Centre at Ottawa, proved his efficiency as a bomb disposal expert when he was rushed to Minton, Sask., to dismantle the bombs and organize his unit to track down and conduct research on this method of attack.

Although no loss of life is attributed to the balloons in Canada, bomb disposal experts consider it a miracle that the incendiary container did not explode when opened by civilians at Provost, Alta. The lid of the tin had been opened by a hot poker.

Useful Materials
Bomb disposal experts also ran across cases where Indians had undertaken to break down the bombs. They found the balloons excellent material for tepees and boots and the "chandeliers" source of material to make various gadgets.

Melvin Kline, of Wimbome, Alta., actually saw one of the balloons fall. It landed about one hundred yards from his farmhouse. The explosion was not great but flames

The monthly meeting of the Municipal Council was held Thursday evening of last week in the Municipal Hall, with Reeve A. J. Chidley in the chair. The fuel situation was discussed, and it was decided this was well in hand at the moment. Two sawmills have been working, and people have been able to stock up wood for the winter.

An application for Lot 11, Map 125, was received from D. G. Greig, and accepted. An application was received from A. M. Bradford to lease the hill side at the end of 5th Street for use of a chicken run, but the Council was against leasing this land. It was decided to sell agricultural land in the municipality, returned men to have preference in purchasing these lands.

Councillor G. W. Hawksley reported that the roads were in poor condition, and many complaints about water on the roads have been received. Culverts are in need of repair. Councillor Hawksley explained it was impossible to get men to do this work during the busy fruit season. Councillor W. B. Sanderson reported the dam had been cleaned out as well as possible with labor available. Trees and brush were interfering with the wires, and would have to be cleared out. There were complaints about horses and cattle running loose, and some horses had been put in the pound.

At the afternoon service in St. Margaret's Anglican Church, Sunday, September 16, Joan Elaine, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Topham, Jr., was baptised by Canon F. V. Harrison, Mrs. A. West, of Trepanier, acting as godmother to the baby.

"I hope you are not afraid of microbes," apologized the paying teller as he cashed the stenographer's cheque with soiled currency. "Don't worry," said the pert young thing. "A microbe couldn't live on my salary."

"Here's another fellow who likes Grape-Nuts Flakes—he couldn't even wait to open the package!"

"Put it away, Doctor, you're making my mouth water for that mally-rich, sweet-as-a-nut Grape-Nuts Flakes flavor!"

"But, my dear fellow—as you enjoy their delicious taste, you must never forget that Grape-Nuts Flakes supply such praise-worthy nourishment as carbohydrates for energy, proteins for muscle, phosphorus for teeth and bones, iron for the blood, and other food essentials."

"I know, I know—and it's because they're made of two grains—wheat and malted barley—instead of only one. Their special blending, baking and toasting is also important: it not only makes Grape-Nuts Flakes delicious to eat, but also remarkably easy to digest."

"Umm—is there a grocery store near here? I think I'll get one of those giant economy packages of Grape-Nuts Flakes, myself!"

During the warmer months of the year... ant works hard to find his food. But he is always careful to lay away a generous portion which he does not touch until he really needs it. And so, because he is wise he survives. Each of us has the opportunity to buy and put away Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps. Let us continue to do so, regularly. And let us be sure to keep them until we really need them.

QUO VADIS Canada?

Now, when the tremendous power of Canada has helped successfully to subdue the enemy, it behooves us, as sensible, serious-minded voters, to ask: "Whither are these powers going to take us?" Are we, as a people, going to flip a coin on the outcome of our destiny, or are we going to follow a proven course?

A TESTED RECORD

Throughout four years of war, the Coalition Government has ably interpreted the progressive, forward-looking wishes of the people of B.C. Now they ask for a mandate from you to continue their program of developmental administration.

OF PROVEN ENDEAVOR

There can be no choice. There is no "maybe." Canada's future lies in the hands of its people and the post-war world of their ideals demands a "know how" in the executors of their wishes.

FOR THE PEOPLE OF B.C.

The Coalition Government has this "know how." It incorporates the finest of abilities from two outstanding parties. Its record of achievement proves it is the only Government which can promise—with any reliability whatsoever—a better Post-War world.

BENNETT SPEAKS ON BEHALF OF HON. H. G. PERRY

Dr. Reg Laird Is Chosen Coalition Candidate For Similkameen

W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition candidate for South Okanagan constituency in the forthcoming Provincial election, was one of the guest speakers at the nominating convention for a Coalition candidate in the Prince George electoral division.

Mr. Bennett spoke on behalf of Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education in the Provincial Government, and the latter was chosen by the nominating convention to contest the Prince George seat on a Coalition ticket. Mr. Perry was elected to the last Legislature on a Liberal ticket. He also was chairman of the Post War Rehabilitation Bureau of which Mr. Bennett was a member of the council.

Dr. Reginald Laird, who was wounded at Dieppe while serving with the Royal Canadian Regiment, was chosen as the Coalition candidate in the Similkameen riding, while Bernard G. Webber, was the unanimous choice of the C.C.F. party for this constituency. Webber was the member for the Similkameen riding in the last Provincial House.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Laird, of Oliver, Dr. Laird is a former resident of Pontiac and Oliver. He has been at the Coast taking treatments at the Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

At Dieppe, where he went ashore in the first landing craft as an assault surgeon, he was wounded in the leg, hip and shoulder by machine gun bullets. Later, after being taken prisoner by the Nazis, his leg was amputated. For fourteen months he was confined in various camps in Germany, and in the fall of 1943 he was repatriated to England.

Former Local Resident Dies in Victoria

Mrs. C. R. Reid Lived Here For Many Years And Had Many Friends

Many old timers in Kelowna and district were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. C. R. Reid at the Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria.

For many years a resident of Kelowna, she endeared herself to a host of friends. Coming from the Old Country as a young girl, she quickly adapted herself to the ways of the west. Her bright vivacious personality added a gaiety to a social gathering or equally enlivened an otherwise dull hospital sewing circle.

An enthusiastic golfer, she was a charter member of Kelowna Golf Club. In 1913 she married Dr. Gordon Campbell, spending most of the four years of World War I in England where Dr. Campbell was attached to various Military Hospitals.

Shortly after their return to Kelowna their daughter Janet was born.

Dr. Campbell died in 1931 and in 1933 Mrs. Campbell married Christopher R. Reid and lived in Penticton, later moving to Vancouver where his military duties called him.

Her death brings a sense of personal loss to her many friends and heartfelt sympathy to her bereaved husband and daughter Janet, also her three surviving sisters, Mrs. Russell Cowan and Mrs. J. Hampshire, both resident in Vancouver, and Mrs. De Latour, in England.

Hat Problems

Mrs. Gladys Strum, M.P., C.C.F. member for Qu'Appelle, Sask., and the only woman member in the federal house, had a new dress and hat for the opening ceremonies, in Ottawa, but was not allowed to wear them. She went hatless in a very smart gray suit, when she was told she must attend the session in "traditional dress" which, of course, would have been cutaway and trousers. The suit sans hat was a compromise.

FINED FOR NO DRIVING PERMIT

Pete Yofonoff, County of Yale, was fined $25 and costs or 15 days imprisonment by Magistrate T. F. McWilliams in police court on Monday after he was convicted of making a false application for a driver's licence. Yofonoff had his previous driver's licence cancelled on August 20th.

"A lad in your situation is not entitled to much sympathy. You are only making it harder for you ever to get a licence," said Magistrate McWilliams in handing down sentence.

John Knorr, of Kelowna, charged with no driver's licence, was assessed $5 and costs.

Kelowna their daughter Janet was born.

Dr. Campbell died in 1931 and in 1933 Mrs. Campbell married Christopher R. Reid and lived in Penticton, later moving to Vancouver where his military duties called him.

Her death brings a sense of personal loss to her many friends and heartfelt sympathy to her bereaved husband and daughter Janet, also her three surviving sisters, Mrs. Russell Cowan and Mrs. J. Hampshire, both resident in Vancouver, and Mrs. De Latour, in England.

LOCALS LOSE OPENING GAME IN PLAYOFFS

Revelstoke Beats Kelowna 4-3 — Second Game Of Series Here Sunday

Revelstoke "Spikes" nailed down the first game of the final play-off series in the Okanagan Main Line League on Sunday afternoon, when they came from behind to win by the close score of 4 to 3 from the Orchard City nine. The second game of the series will be played here Sunday.

Kelowna led from the third, when all three of their runs were scored, until the last half of the eighth, when the Orchard City crowd put over the tying and winning run on a couple of hits, a sacrifice and some fast base running.

Big Pradolini, chucked the full route for the winners, but was hit fully hard, yielding ten safeties to Kelowna batters. In the third stanza Kelowna batters came close to knocking him out of the box, but he steeled down and held the game well in hand from then on. In the third, Sawayama and Hashimoto both hit safely for Kelowna, advanced on a sacrifice by Leier, and scored on a sacrifice bunt by Leier. The latter was forced out at second when Murdoch hit to that base, but the hard hitting cop came home with Kelowna's second run when "Hank" Wostradowski drove out a three bagger, only to die there when Terada fanned, retiring the side.

Winning Run

Tommy Sawayama, the one-time Vancouver Asahi veteran, went the whole route in the box for Kelowna, allowing only six hits, and walking one man. He weakened a bit toward the end of the game, Revelstoke getting one run in the 6th on an error by Kielbiski, a hit by Maruno, and a long fly to left field by Coustou. They added another in the 7th when two "chickens" hit to the wrong field crossed up the Kelowna outfield and allowed Venuti to score. In the 8th Maruno again hit safely for Revelstoke, stole second on a single, and was caught by Coustou. The latter also pilfered second from "Val" Leier, whose throwing was a little wild on Sunday, and then came home with the winning run on a sacrifice bunt by Pradolini, who thus won his own game.

Kelowna started a rally in the 9th, when Phinney walked, and Fred Kielbiski, batting for Sawayama, singled, but the next three batters went out in order, Hashimoto fanning, Leier flying to 2nd and Andy Kitch missing the third strike, which incidentally the catcher also missed, but recovered in plenty of time to make the out at first.

Features of the game were the running catches by "Hank" Wostradowski in left field, cutting off what looked like sure hits. With 2 hits in 4 times up, he was the best man with the club for Kelowna, Andy Kitch being next with 2 hits in 3 times up. The best for Revelstoke was 2 hits, and a walk in 4 trips to the plate. Some weird umpiring detracted from an otherwise good ball game. In the 2nd inning a Kelowna rally slumped when Terada was called out at home plate by the field umpire, for allegedly stepping out of his box, when "Prad" threw him a fourth ball.

This would have filled the bases, but became an "out" instead, by this surprising usurpation of the job of the umpire-in-chief behind the plate. This same field umpire was feeling his oats, for he ordered Kielbiski off the field in the last frame for protesting a close decision at third. In an important game such as a play-off, good umpiring is essential. Kelowna management was partly at fault in failing to take along a Kelowna field umpire.

The score by innings was as follows:

R H E
Kelowna 000 300 000—3 10 2
Revelstoke 000 001 12x—4 6 1
Batteries: Kelowna — Sawayama and Leier; Revelstoke — Pradolini and Rota.
Umpires: Beach and Kimberley.

RUTLAND SEES FOREST FILMS

Movies came thick and fast over the recent week-end, with special forestry films shown in the Rutland Hall on Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Forestry Department, and on Monday evening the monthly showing of films by the National Film Board. Both shows were well attended and the movies presented highly entertaining as well as educational.

Fred Wostradowski left on Tuesday morning for Vancouver by car, on a business trip.

Rutland welcomed back another airman this past week in the person of Flying Officer Fred Stevens, D. F.C.

Two Rutland cars drove to Revelstoke over the week-end, taking ball players and supporters to the Kelowna-Revelstoke play-off game on Sunday. Ray Jacobs drove up on the Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wostradowski and Andy Kitch.

Mac picking is well advanced in the district, and color is improving with the cool temperatures at night. Light frosts were registered on the flats on Monday night. Both local packing houses are now operating at full capacity. Growers and packing house managers alike are suffering from lack of experienced help.

A few soldiers from Vernon have been taken on at the K.G.E.

Don't forget the party for the returned veterans in the Community Hall on Friday evening, September 21st. All residents are welcome as well as the veterans, their relatives and friends.

Johnny Welter is home on furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. F. Welter.

3 DELAY IN PAYMENT

fleux blamed the Army and the Air Force for the delay in gratuity cheques, due to bad administration. He said the cheques are supposed to be issued 30 days after discharge, whereas the Army admit they cannot get them out within three months of discharge.

Improve Homes

Pointing out that the re-establishment credit is available for ten years, the speaker noted a distinct falling off in the number of applications seeking the use of the credit for the purchase of a business. Today more than 50 per cent of the applications are asking for the credit in the purchase, construction or modification of homes, he continued. Approximately 27 per cent are for the purchase of furniture.

Speaking on the unemployment situation, the newspaperman admitted that veterans are being thrown by the thousands into a labor market side by side with former war workers. He reminded veterans that a government grant is available for jobless soldiers, and also pleaded for sympathy between employer and employee. "Both need each other," he said, "Canada needs their hard-earned relationship."

The speaker said education and training is available to all veterans and that the tuition is free, but grants for maintenance are deducted from the amount of the re-establishment credit. Application, however, must be made within 12 months of discharge. Veterans must have necessary qualifications to enter University before they are accepted under the government plan. In some instances they are sent to special schools to complete their qualifications.

In noting the sudden decline in the number of war vets wanting to open their own business, Mr. De-fleux thought this is responsible because of two factors. First, the absence of an adequate loan system, and, secondly, the necessity of the veteran using his available resources for housing. He said, however, that there is a possibility that an Industrial Development Bank would be started, which would aid the veteran considerably.

Complaints Over Estates
In concluding, Mr. De-fleux was a little bitter over the question of estates of men who died in service. "The situation involving the Army and Air Force is bad," he said. "I have heard no complaints about the Navy. Surely it is not necessary to take 12 months and more to clear up a man's pay and allowance estate or to forward the personal effects back home."

"And yet this is the condition we find prevailing. You get a lump in your throat when a mother with tears in her eyes tells you of receiving her son's clothes on V-J Day, while the rest of the city is celebrating—clothes of a hero who gave his life more than a year before. And now Dependent's Allowance Board questionnaires are mailed to mothers, who seek the gratuity as part of their son's estate. This is even done where mothers are the sole beneficiaries under the will."

"This is not a fault of the Department of Veterans Affairs. Like the case of late payment of gratuities, it is simply a failure of the forces themselves to set up an administrative system to meet conditions."

JUNIOR BOARD WANTS TO SEE
NEW INDUSTRY*Support Plastic Industry Here
To Provide Steady Work
The Year Round

The Junior Board of Trade is anxious to see another industry started in the city to take care of the large number of ex-servicemen who will shortly be arriving home in large numbers.

At a joint meeting of the executives of both the Junior and Senior Boards of Trade last week, the Jay Dees suggested the possibility of establishing a plastic industry in Kelowna, which they claimed would give steady employment to men the year round. They pointed out the fruit industry only employs seasonal labor, and members thought that such consideration should be given to starting a new and permanent industry here.

Members pointed out that at the present time there is no scarcity of labor here due to the house building in the city. But they said the moment the real estate boom is over, hundreds of men will find themselves out of work.

The acute housing situation was also discussed by the joint executives, and while the Junior Board thought that every consideration should be given to returned men who wish to establish themselves in the Okanagan Valley, the Senior Board was of the opinion that there is no use bringing men here while the acute housing situation exists. Scores of letters have been received from people outside of the province asking about conditions in Kelowna, and the secretary of the Board of Trade has been obliged to inform them that the city cannot offer any housing accommodation. A letter from H. G. M. Gardner, secretary of the local Rehabilitation Committee, appealing for rooms and houses for returned men, was discussed by the executives.

plete the minimum requirements, and the fact that this room must also be used for teaching purposes necessitates considerable adjustment. During the past three years the laboratory work has been done during the noon hours, Saturdays, and after school, but it is hoped to avoid these expedients this year.

Mr. Logie continues by saying the commercial department is crowded and the school is unable to allow many students who wish to take commercial subjects as options to register for these courses. The same situation applies in home economics and although an additional class in Grade X Home Economics is being given this year, the school is still forced to limit the number taking the course.

The additional number of students also creates problems with respect to study periods, as the study hall is unable to hold all the students during certain periods. Thus other rooms have to be found to house these students unable to use the study

KEEN INTEREST TAKEN IN BIRD LECTURE HERE

Details And Habits Of Wild Life Are Unfolded By Expert

The High School Auditorium was filled Tuesday evening to see a remarkable collection of colored motion pictures of bird life, presented by Dick Bird, of Regina, under the joint auspices of the Canadian Club and the Red and Gun Club.

The speaker's pleasing personality and platform manner added greatly to the enjoyment of the audience, as he unfolded the details of the habits of various birds, in addition to the outstanding photographic skill. Mr. Bird must have a real enthusiasm for his subject and an unlimited patience to have secured these beautiful pictures, many of them taken within two or three feet of the nests as the young were being fed.

There were dozens of pictures of ducks and other water fowl, king birds, wax wings, cormorants, owls and doves, and many others, but the outstanding group was that of the pelicans. These curious birds, so magnificent in flight and so grotesque in the ground, were presented in hundreds on the shore of a lake, the young birds securing their food by plunging their heads completely into the mother bird's throat.

To complete the program were some beautiful still pictures of wild flowers, of harvest fields and sunsets, the gathering of storm clouds, and the fury of the storm, followed by a rainbow against a blue prairie sky, all of which bore out Mr. Bird's introductory statement that we live in a beautiful country.

Mr. Bird had shown some of his pictures to the High School pupils in the afternoon, and it was obvious that many of them thought it worth while to see them again in the evening.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Blackie and a vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Chelchster, each of whom reinforced Mr. Bird's remarks on the importance of promoting the conservation of our wild life.

More About 5 ROTARY HEAD

Through all these years it has been a struggle, and it always will be a struggle," he continued.

War Effort Referring to a visit in Chicago last June, when he attended a Rotary convention, Dr. Irving said less than 20 per cent of the people in the United States know the details of Lend-Lease. He took exception to some remarks passed in the States regarding Canada's war effort. He said that a lot of people are under the impression that Canada contributed very little when compared with the United States, and he put it down to the fact that the people do not know the true circumstances, and were ignorant in many ways when it came to international affairs.

Speaking on the principles of Rotary, he doubted if any member could say offhand why he is a member today. "I believe it is because there is a certain feeling based on the Golden Rule and this is the means of which we have a chance to emphasize our feelings," he remarked. "If we get friendship in other countries, we have international friendship, and we have international peace," he explained.

Referring to the San Francisco conference, he said there were 28 U.S. advisers at the gathering. "All these men were Rotarians, although they did not go as Rotarians," he said. "I think we should feel proud of our organization that it was so well represented. The accumulated opinion of men that will bring about peace in the world, and we should always keep the principles of Rotary in mind," he continued.

Good Attendance He said that latest figures released by Rotary International headquarters revealed that 241 clubs from 29 different countries have been admitted. "This means 21,650 members in the last six months, an average increase of 1.54 per cent."

He asked the local members to continue doing good work, noting at the same time that the Kelowna Club stood second out of 103 clubs in attendance at weekly meetings.

Guests at the luncheon were Bill French, Vancouver; Dr. Hackney, Victoria; Dick Asher, New Westminster; Judge F. R. Archibald, Kamloops; Capt. T. H. Long, Banff; J. W. Edwards, Vancouver; J. R. Campbell, Kelowna; Sam Hammett, Vancouver; Capt. W. J. Rankin, Vancouver; T. G. Griffith, Kelowna.

Mr. and Mrs. Cope resided in Winnipeg for a few years after their marriage, moving later to Brandon, and in 1929 they came to Kelowna to reside. Mr. Cope was in the electrical business until 1943, when he finally retired.

They have three children, Jack, and Mrs. Herman Cowie, of Kelowna, as well as six grandchildren, Shirley and Phyllis Cope, Murray, Dorothy, Eleanor and Margaret Cowie. All of the family were present for the occasion with the exception of Murray Cowie, who is stationed at Camp Shilo, with the Canadian Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Cope were the recipients of many wires from out of town friends as well as many lovely gifts.

J. N. Thompson, on behalf of the United Church, read an address of congratulation to the bride and groom of fifty years ago, and presented them with a purse, and L. O. Brown, on behalf of the United Church Business Sessions, also offered congratulations.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, the gifts of J. W. Hughes, the Canadian General Electric Company, Seattle, and from many other old friends.

During the afternoon, Mrs. D. Macfarlane and Mrs. G. S. McKenzie presided at the attractive tea table in the evening. Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett presided. Assisting as servers were Mrs. George Reith, Mrs. H. Glenn, Miss Mildred Renwick, Mrs. Jack Cope, Mrs. Dick Cope and Mrs. Herman Cowie.

During the evening Mrs. Harold Glenn sang several songs, favorite songs of Mr. and Mrs. Cope.

Mrs. F. Harris and Mrs. E. L. Cross, of Vernon, were in town for the occasion.

TEEN CANTEN OKANAGAN MISSION DUKE OF YORK STEAMS INTO TOKYO BAY

Well, nothing in the way of a building or hall has turned up for us, so we will just have to carry on without one.

Right now the Canteen is trying its best to get some Teen Clubs started. We have approached the School Board to see whether or not we can have the school as a centre for these activities. They are considering our letter, so we are hoping something will come out of it.

These clubs will be of a hobby nature. Metal work, cooking, applied art, radio, and a newspaper club are among the many kinds we hope to have.—TINA.

New President Of C.W.N.A. Started Newspaper Life Early

Weekly Editor Recognizes The Strong Power Of Editorial Page

Hugh Templin, new president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, practically grew up in the newspaper office over which he presides today. When he was a little shaver of six, his father gave up school teaching and bought The News-Record, then just two years short of its 50th birthday.

Young Templin worked around the office while going to school. The first Great War halted his progress at the University of Toronto and when demobilized he went to work in Ontario Legislature. This was in the stormy days of the Drury (U.F.O.) Government and Templin says "he saw enough of politics then to do a lifetime." While on this job he flew to Moose Factory in 1923 to conduct the first vote ever taken at James Bay.

On the side he wrote the editorial page for The News-Record, in fact has been doing that regularly since 1918.

Veteran Newspaperman

Even Templin, veteran weekly newspaperman that he is, is sometimes surprised at the power of the editorial page. His criticism via that medium helped to turn out the entire local council on one occasion. The News-Record he describes as "an average weekly, with circulation of 1,600, and devoting itself entirely to news and opinions of the town and district."

But a country newspaperman's life is not all editorial writing, if Templin's is typical. Articles of his have appeared in many national periodicals, including Maclean's Magazine, and he has several books to his credit, "The Story of a Little Town" (a history of Fergus), and "Assignment to Britain."

In 1941 he flew across the Atlantic and toured Britain as a representative of the Canadian weeklies. On the way back he got stuck in Lisbon, Portugal, and had to stop in the same hotel with the German Gestapo.

Hugh Templin has been one of the leaders in the movement which eventually led to the control of the Grand River. Until flood waters were held back in man-made Lake Belwood, the Grand used to run wild every spring or so and leave a trail of destruction in Fergus and other important industrial towns along its course to Lake Erie.

Flood Control

For 15 years Templin never missed an opportunity to harp on flood control and conservation. Finally a few years back the outbreak of the war came success and the $2 million Grand River project got under way. Hugh Templin is the representative for Fergus on the commission which operates the scheme. Having seen the need and advantages of flood control at first hand, Templin believes that this sort of development will be of increasing importance to rural Canada in the postwar period.

Another successful campaign was led by this country editor as getting journalism as a recognized subject for university teaching. Here result came with remarkable speed. Templin headed a committee of the C.W.N.A. to look into the matter last year and this fall three courses are ready to start.

The big publishers are not the only ones who have had to cope with labor shortages during the last five years. Templin's News-Record reports its share. Every single member of its staff enlisted with the result that five women and girls had to take over the job. First of the former staff came back last month and others are expected soon.

Templin's favorite hobbies are color movies and oil painting. He is a member of the Short Shorters Club and a director of the local fair and half the other organizations in the town.

OUCH

The story of how Scotland took the thistle as its national emblem is unique in its history. According to authentic authorities the thistle became the Scottish emblem many years ago.

According to the story, a band of Danish warriors attempted to storm the famous Stirling castle. The idea was to sneak up under the cover of darkness and take the garrison by surprise. But, unfortunately for the Danes, they walked into a forest of thistles which raised such havoc with their bare feet they were forced to cry out. This awakened the sleeping sentries in time to slay the attackers, and to this day the thistle remains the emblem of Scotland.

FUNERAL HELD FOR PERCY PAUL

Funeral services for the late Percy S. Paul, who passed away early Tuesday morning, September 11th, were held in Sutherland's Funeral Parlors Saturday afternoon, with Rev. Dr. Lees, of the United Church, officiating. During the service, Mrs. Geo. Phillips, of East Kelowna, sang "The Old Rugged Cross." The pall bearers were: H. E. Shelley, A. Kennedy, Ted Lewis, G. H. Moubrey, Otto Hemmerling and Archie Loudoun, Jr.

Bernard Paul, of the Canadian Artillery, stationed at Hamilton, Ont., arrived home last Friday evening in time to attend the funeral.

Mac picking is now in full swing in Glenmore, and the crop is reported to be fair.

Reeve S. Pearson returned last week from a holiday spent in Trail.

Mrs. N. B. Rogers, New Westminster, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Moubrey.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Snowsall, Bankhead, are the proud grandparents of a young son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hunt, of Kelowna.

A. T. Cook, of Ottawa, was a guest of the Royal Anne Hotel for several days last week.

Rev. W. A. Bennett, of Vancouver, is a guest of the Royal Anne Hotel this week.

Amputation cases have been greatly reduced in number in the present war as a result of the use of a Canadian-developed drug named heparin, which prevents coagulation of the blood.

ATOMIC POWER AND ITS USE

We dream too much, think too little. No sooner do we hear of the atomic bomb than we propose to use it for power, yet its use so far has been as an explosive and we have not made any use of gunpowder, dynamite or T.N.T. as creators of power. Would it not be wiser to consider the costs, measure the saving which would probably result? We have inherited the thrust of the atom, we would use our inheritance. The atom will not be used as a source of power unless, by this means, power can be obtained more cheaply than from water falling over a precipice—that, by the way, is fairly cheap. Even power from coal, at times, comes close in cost to hydro electric power.

Then power is a rather small item in cost when measured as a percentage of the value of production. Power and fuel cost industry roughly $175,000,000 in 1941. As the total volume of manufactured products in that year was $8,076,000,000, power represented only 2.27% of the total value of the product. Now this is an important item. If prices of goods were reduced to that extent, it would add substantially to purchasing power but atomic power, if it ever comes, will cost something, and this item, while important, would not bring about a vital change in costs of production.

If power costs should decline sharply, the use of power would expand, it would then be brought within the range of many new buyers. Farm use of electricity is, at present, limited by price. If the price were substantially lowered, use would greatly increase. We would do many things with the use of cheap power which would not otherwise be done. Great works, such as irrigation, might then be undertaken. Price determines the boundaries of use.

Use Important
Its use as a source of domestic heat would be important. The saving in cost would then be used for the purchase of other products. In other words, the householder would be able to provide two satisfactions for the cost of one. But we go too fast in all these things, a new age is not born every minute. The real problem lies in something else. Can we develop the moral qualities which will permit us to use such amazing force, make it an efficient servant of mankind? If it were to become an unchecked weapon in war, some pirate state might suddenly attack, the dream of world control might bring forth another Hitler.

Consider now the tremendous gains which have come to us in the last hundred years from the development of the power-age in which we live, then ask yourself this question: "Have we used that power for the enrichment of life for the benefit of mankind? Are we really happier than we were a hundred years ago?" We are happier and but it is quite possible that a per-wiser, much wiser, if wisdom is to be measured by knowledge of the things which surround us and the conditions under which we live. We have more insight, more foresight. We are less narrow—and perhaps less conceited. In the distant days atomic power may come but the chances are we shall have further opportunities for mental expansion and moral vitality before we have to face the new problems. It may not be highly gratifying to our pride but it is quite possible that a per-wiser, much wiser, if wisdom is to be measured by knowledge of the

YOU CAN'T GAMBLE WITH INFLATION

THE DICE ARE LOADED AGAINST YOU

Canadians are lucky. So far we've prevented inflation and avoided deflation. It's not been just good luck. Your support—everybody's support—of price ceilings, rationing and other controls alone has made it possible.

BUT NOW COMES THE REAL TESTING TIME.

The danger of inflation and its black shadow, deflation, will last as long as goods are scarce and insufficient to meet demands. With the war over and plenty of money in our pockets it's easy to overlook the danger. It's easy to think that paying just a little more to get something we want is unimportant now. It's easy to think that what you do can't hurt—and to forget that careless, extravagant buying is a sure way to help a general rise in prices. That's how inflation gets going.

BUT INFLATION IS ALWAYS FOLLOWED BY DEFLATION.

And deflation brings cancelled orders, bankrupt businesses, mortgage foreclosures, unemployment and distress—distress you can't avoid. Until industry gets back to normal, price ceilings, rationing and other controls are our safeguard.

SO—Keep on watching your buying. Don't rush to buy scarce goods. Keep on saving your money. Put it into Victory bonds and War Savings certificates. Keep on supporting wage and price controls, and rationing. Keep on fighting inflation and its black shadow...deflation.

This advertisement is one of a series being issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing a further increase in the cost of living now and deflation and unemployment later.

4 YEARS OF GOOD GOVERNMENT

The Coalition Government of British Columbia was formed in 1941. Throughout four difficult years it has not only co-operated to the utmost limit with the national war effort, but it has maintained high standards of provincial administration and laid the foundations for a better tomorrow.

At the forthcoming election, the Coalition Government will appeal to the people for a mandate to carry on. It will seek support on the basis of its record and offer a continuation of its programme of sound progressive administration.

These are the highlights of that record:

SOCIAL SERVICES—This Government has managed its finances well and, despite heavy war costs, has advanced every phase of its social services. Old age pensioners now receive up to $60 per month per couple. Pensions for mothers and their dependents and allowances for unemployables have been increased. Hospitalization and medical treatment benefits have been extended.

LABOR'S POSITION—B.C.'s Coalition Government has led the way in giving Labor the charter it sought—freedom to organize and collective bargaining. Workmen's Compensation, because of recent amendments, is the best in America. Wages are generally higher and working conditions are better than in any other province.

VETERAN'S ASSISTANCE—The Coalition Government is giving every possible aid within its authority to veterans. One million acres of fertile land have been set aside for their use under the Veterans' Land Act. Veterans have been given preference in all provincial civil service appointments. These—and many more—things have been done for the returned men, supplementing the Federal Rehabilitation of Veterans Programme.

AGRICULTURE—This government, recognizing the paramount importance of Agriculture, British Columbia's second industry, has assisted with comprehensive legislation and far-reaching planning. $500,000 has been provided for the purchase of machinery to enable farmers to clear their land. Tax exemptions on all farm improvements benefit every farmer, fruit-grower and dairyman. Irrigation problems are being reviewed in order to alleviate financial difficulties.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION—The B.C. Power Commission, established by the Coalition Government, is the most significant contribution to the economic development of this province in its entire history. Its application will bring higher standards of living to rural areas and will aid in the establishment of new industries and employment.

EDUCATION—For teachers in rural areas of B.C. the highest minimum salaries in Canada have been established. Aid is now being given to municipalities and school districts for educational costs and construction of school buildings. A major expansion programme, totalling $5,000,000, for the University of British Columbia has already been started. The Cameron Commission on Education appointed by the Coalition Government has now completed its report.

FINANCE—During the war the provincial revenues have increased very considerably. Under the wise administration of the Coalition Government, British Columbia has made a major financial contribution to the war effort. It has maintained all essential services, yet has instituted many new and progressive measures. It has built up cash reserves and credits which are now available for its reconstruction programme.

● These are but a few of the achievements of four years of Coalition Government—the record of an honest and aggressive Administration.

● British Columbia cannot afford to embark upon any new form of government under untried leadership.

CATTLE SALE VALUES HIT NEW RECORD

Realize $72,998.81 In Sale Of 891 Head At Okanagan Falls

The value of the cattle sold last week at the third annual Okanagan Falls Stock sale reached an all-time high, when $72,998.81 was realized on 891 head.

Cattle in the sale this year were in prime condition and good prices were paid by private buyers and packers. As one official put it, "the buyers have really been good to the ranchers this year in the prices paid for cattle."

The Southern Interior Stockmen's Association is highly pleased with the results of the sale. J. R. Christie, president of the association, admitted that this sale will "make" the Southern Interior ranchers, for it was an excellent event both from the standpoint of the ranchers and the buyers.

Last year there were 400 head entered in the sale and the total amount received for the cattle was $30,623.47. In 1943, 862 head were entered for a value of $65,650.

Opens Show
Dr. W. R. Gunn, Provincial Livestock Commissioner, opened the sale in the absence of the Hon. Dr. K. C. McDonald, B. C. Minister of Agriculture, who had a prior engagement at the Chilliwack fair. A good deal of credit for the high prices received for cattle goes to the Hon. H. H. Armstrong, the capable and highly entertaining auctioneer.

The Richter estate again won the Bank of Montreal Cup for the best group of five steers. A price of $11.20 was paid as against $10.70 last year.

TIMELY RECIPES FOR HOUSEWIVES

Cheese Makes Delicious Meals
Now That Cooler Days Are Here

Cheese brings out and complements the flavors of many vegetables, as well as other foods. And it furnishes some of the calcium, phosphorus, vitamins, and proteins which everyone needs.

Cheese sauce may, of course, be served with any one of a number of vegetables, or with macaroni, spaghetti, or rice in casserole dishes. The vegetables should be cooked until just tender in a small amount of water. Be careful not to overcook, for then flavor and texture as well as valuable food essentials are lost.

For the cheese sauce, just make a white sauce and add 1/2 to 1 cup of grated cheese.

Cheese Sauce
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 to 1 cup grated cheese

Melt the butter and stir in the flour. Gradually stir in milk and stir until mixture boils and thickens. Cook about 3 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add cheese and stir over low heat until cheese is melted.

Vegetable Fritters
Yield: 24 fritters
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
2 cups mixed cooked vegetables
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons melted lard
1/2 cup lard for frying

Cheese Sauce
Beat eggs and add milk. Sift flour with other dry ingredients, add milk and eggs. Stir only until ingredients are blended. Fold in vegetables (well drained), parsley, and melted lard. Heat fat in heavy frying pan. When hot, drop mixture from tablespoon and fry until golden brown, 3 to 4 minutes. Serve hot with cheese sauce.

Eggs and Mushrooms in Cheese Sauce

Yield: 6 servings
6 hard-cooked eggs
1/2 cup butter or mild flavored fat
6 tablespoons flour
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup canned mushrooms
1 cup grated cheese

Slice eggs. Melt butter or fat and blend in flour. Add milk and seasoning. Stir until thick. Add mushrooms and grated cheese. Heat until cheese is melted. Serve on toast or in toast cups.

Rabbit Frankfurts
Yield: 4 servings
1 cup grated cheese (1/4 pound)
1/4 cup top milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
4 frankfurts
4 slices toast

Combine cheese and milk. Stir and cook slowly until cheese is melted. Add Worcestershire sauce and sliced frankfurts. Serve on toast, on broiled thick onion slices.

Frankfurt Casserole
Sliced frankfurts or silvers or cubes of table-ready meats may be used in a variety of casserole dishes. This frankfurt dish serves six amply and satisfyingly with just four frankfurts.

Melt 1/2 cup of fat in a heavy frying pan and add 1/2 cup of rice. Cook over low heat until the rice is lightly browned. Add four frankfurts, sliced, and 1 tablespoon of chopped onion to the rice. Cook until the frankfurts are lightly browned. Add 1 tablespoon of chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup sliced pimiento olives, 1 teaspoon of salt, and 2 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes. Simmer slowly for 40 to 50 minutes, or until rice is tender.

So far, 9,096 wives and 5,244 children of Canadian servicemen have been brought to Canada. At July 31 there were 23,536 wives and 8,250 children still in the United Kingdom.

A substantial part of Canada's contribution to the Pacific War was in the form of Mutual Aid supplies sent to Australia and New Zealand. Mutual Aid shipments to Australia in 1943-44 amounted to $20,959,845. This was more than doubled in 1944-45.

SOVIET FLAG FLIES OVER PORT ARTHUR

Many Enquiries Received From Veterans Who Want To Live Here

Scores of requests and enquiries are received from time to time by the secretary of the Kelowna Board of Trade and the officials in charge of the local Rehabilitation Committee regarding prospective employment in the Okanagan Valley, or asking about the housing situation in the Orchard City.

At the executive meeting of the local Board of Trade held Tuesday afternoon, the question of housing was again discussed at the meeting, following a letter received from H. G. M. Gardner, secretary of the Rehabilitation Committee, appealing to business men and residents of Kelowna to provide vacant rooms or houses for returning war veterans.

It is generally conceded that within the next few years the Okanagan Valley is going to see a large influx of people from all over Canada, and to give the readers of the Courier an insight into the type of enquiries received by local officials, the following is an extract of a letter received by E. W. Barton, secretary of the local Board of Trade.

Plans For Future

"It is possible that I shall soon be a civilian again, so I am, therefore, making plans for the future. After living in medium and large cities for many years, I have decided that I prefer a small place. While never having visited Kelowna, all the information given to me about it has been favorable. I am, therefore, writing to obtain, if possible, more detailed information regarding business opportunities, climate, living conditions, etc.

"Perhaps if I told you what I am looking for in the way of living conditions, you might be able to give me better advice. I am looking for a place about the size of Kelowna, near water, in which I can make a living sufficient for normal needs, with a little to spare, where I could become a respected member of the community and could contribute my share to building up.

"I would appreciate it, if you would answer the following questions:

1. What is the area and population of Kelowna?
2. What was the population in 1940?
3. What is the size of the transient population?
4. What are the general sources of income for those now living in Kelowna?
5. Is this income generally seasonal?
6. What is the average income?
7. What type of business does Kelowna still need?
8. Does Kelowna expect or desire to grow, or are its citizens content with its present size and general living conditions?
9. What is the average size of houses?
10. What is the average price of houses?
11. What are the average taxes?
12. How do living costs compare with those in Vancouver?
13. What things about Kelowna are the citizens most proud of?
14. I am very interested in marine work. Is there an opening in this connection? If so, what and how?

NO TAX CUTS DISAPPOINTS LOAN WORKERS

Although National War Finance Committee officials decline to discuss the matter, there is little question that failure of the Government to be more explicit about its tax cutting intentions is proving a disappointment to the country-wide organization now getting ready for the 9th Victory Loan, says The Financial Post.

Recent meetings of campaign officials and workers have aired the views of the rank and file as to the importance of the next budget in terms of an enthusiastic sales organization and a successful sales record.

TO HOLD XMAS TAG DAY FOR LOCAL SOLDIERS

9th Armored Regiment Will Spend Fifth Christmas Overseas

The annual tag day to provide Christmas presents for members of the 9th Armored Regiment, B.C. Dragoons, will be held on September 22.

This is the fifth Christmas that the regiment, composed mostly of Kelowna boys, has spent overseas, and the parcels that were sent to the soldiers last year were greatly appreciated. Col. Harry Angle, D.S.O., who was mentioned in dispatches, is head of the regiment and is a former local man. The following officers and men have distinguished themselves in combat: Capt. R. Sellers, M.C., Major Cook, M.C., Capt. Loonice, M.C., Lieut. D. Wicklow, M.C., Sgt. W. Fleck, D.C.M., Cpl. Eilers, M.M., Cpl. G. White, M.M., and Sgt. Glover, M.M.

HONOR FORMER LOCAL SOLDIER

Captain George Paterson, M.C., son of "Jack" Paterson, formerly of East Kelowna, and now of Sidney, Vancouver Island, has been made an honorary citizen of the City of Milan, according to word received this week. There are only about 30 people, other than citizens of Milan, who have received this honor in the last three hundred years.

Captain Paterson was a member of a British Parachute force which, before the invasion of Italy, raided the Italian Coast, and succeeded in blowing up several important bridges in the south of Italy. He was taken a prisoner of war after he was unable to get back to the rescuing ships, but managed to escape several times before being recaptured.

C.N.R. Used Enough Paint Last Year To Coat 3,000 Mile Fence

Canadian National Railways purchased enough paint and varnish last year to coat both sides of a solid five-foot fence stretching along the railway right-of-way from Montreal to Vancouver.

Not that the C.N.R. had any desire to use the paint for such a purpose, for a railway carrying unprecedented heavy loads had its mind on other things when it bought the protective material. However, the idea of coating both sides of a 3,000-mile fence gives an indication of the part paint products play in the running of a railroad.

Specifically, the C.N.R. used 348,000 gallons of paint products in 1944, of which 311,000 gallons were paint and the remainder was made up of filled materials, mostly varnish. That vast amount, railway officials say, was used for the same reasons a home-owner uses paint—to protect property and to improve appearance.

In war years, particularly, the idea of protection is the dominant one. To keep its rolling stock in good condition for the heavy loads imposed by war traffic, the C.N.R. paints an average of 120 locomotives, 616 freight cars and 70 passenger cars each month. A passenger car gets a paint-up job once every three or four years; a locomotive once every two years. The paint is applied whenever it goes into the shops for a general overhaul. Passenger cars also receive a finishing coat of clear varnish.

Color Scheme

There was a time when the established system for a passenger car interior was to have stained natural woods covered with clear varnish, but color schemes with paint plays an increasingly important part in railway-car decoration today. Mechanical and architectural departments have collaborated to develop a number of harmonizing color schemes for luxurious-looking car interiors. The color scheme now in standard use in all Canadian National paint shops for a passenger car is "shopped" and it is found that the upholstery can be satisfactorily con-

On the last lap of a four months tour of B.C., Carl H. Thompson, of Los Angeles, Cal., was here last week. Mr. Thompson has been taking color moving pictures of the province for showing in California. LACK OF WATER CAUSES PEACH CROP DECLINE

Estimate $45,000 Loss In Pen-tion Area This Season

An "all out" discussion on the need for more irrigation storage facilities in Penticton will be held at the October meeting of the Penticton Board of Trade. This was the decision taken at last week's session of the board after attention was drawn to the lack of storage water and the resultant damage to the peach crop.

It was contended that during the current growing season the lack of irrigation storage had resulted in a loss of about $45,000 to the peach growers. Out of 3,000 tons grown in the Penticton area, approximately 450 tons had been lost through reduction in sizes and other factors. On the basis of $100 a ton, this amounts to $45,000.

FIRST C.O.T.C. CLASS GRADUATES

The first graduating class of the C.O.T.C. since the school moved to Vernon from Brockville, Ont., on August 1, received their "bills" as second lieutenants last week. Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, C.B.E., M.C., G.O.C. in C., Pacific Command, inspected the class, and addressed them on their responsibilities at the same time congratulating them, and "wishing you the best of luck". The class numbered 58. Included were 16 men over 50 years of age, who will be posted with Veterans Guard Units for internment camps, 38 doctors and one Chinese, who will act as interpreter.

VERNON FORMS NEW LIONS CLUB

Formation of a Lions Club in Vernon last week marks the third service club for the city. A representative group of Vernon business and professional men met to hear Al Whalen, organizer for the Lions Club in Oregon, Wash., B.C. and Alaska, outline the service society's history and policy.

As a beginning, a charter membership of approximately twenty will be established and from this it is hoped to develop steadily and solidly. W. MacKinnon was elected first president, and C. Foster was chosen secretary-treasurer.

GARAGE DEALER BUYS PROPERTY

City Council gave third reading to an application for the purchase of a piece of property at 224 Lawrence Avenue, which will be used as a display site for new machinery. The property will be purchased by J.J. Ladd, proprietor of Ladd's Garage, and will cost $800.

Two other applications for the purchase of property were given. Sam M. Chernoff wants to buy a lot at 173 Ethel Street for $160, and Helen M. Mackay wants to build on a lot at 89 Coronation Ave. Sale price of the lot is listed at $110.

IT HAS TO EAT

Star fish that cling to the rocks and the bottom of the sea have a strange way of eating their meals. In reference to the unique way a star-fish feeds, it uses its podia to pass small bits of food into its stomach, they do well on oysters, through its mouth. But when the clams, mussels, etc. Last year 62,000 bushels of sea-stars were taken from the oyster beds of Connecticut, which were doing damage to nearly $700,000 annually.

By crossing a form of wheat with couch grass, Canadian scientists have produced a strain of pasture grass which will grow in areas having little moisture.

The Correspondence student receives individual instruction and progresses as rapidly as his own time and ability permit. He can begin work at any time and can be promoted from grade to grade at any time of the year on completion of the required work. Thus, he is in no way retarded by the shortcomings of other students. Any student who is determined to master each problem as he comes to it can succeed in these courses. This has been proved by experience. A letter from one student reads:

"The simplicity of the lessons and the rate of progress, along with the system of review, is really amazing to me. These courses are really a tribute to our Provincial Government and the persons in charge of directing them."

Another student writes:

"I would like you to know that of all the subjects that I have taken, none have benefited me more than this correspondence course. Not only have I gained a knowledge but also I have learned to study and concentrate on my own."

These courses are particularly popular with adults. They enable them to obtain a High School education, to form an interesting and instructive hobby, and to acquire special training in work learned by experience. This is particularly true in the case of our courses in technical subjects.

Students who live more than three miles from a High School pay only a registration fee of $2.00 annually. Adult students and High School students pay a small tuition fee as well. To register, write for application form and descriptive booklet, to the "Handle apples just like you would eggs", has been the theme song of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. to retailers for some time, but the industry started literally to do that very thing this week when, for the first time in Canada, McIntosh Reds were packed in the new "Friday" apple container.

While several millions of these new type containers have been used by A.F.G. in the United States during the past few years, it is being treated as an experiment here. The Courier secured this exclusive story this week, and this is the first announcement to Canadian newspapers that this new type of container is being used in Canada.

Only 100,000 are to be used this year on several varieties, and they will receive rigid tests in all the various stages of handling apples from the grower to the consumer. This will include the vital test of long period cold storage, and then shipment under Carrier Protective Service as far as the Maritimes. The "Friday Pack" container is used them, include:

1. Elimination of contact bruising by completely cushioning each individual apple in trays.

2. Experienced packers should pack from 75 to 100 per cent more boxes per day. Inexperienced help should increase production up to 50 per cent.

3. Requires no protective paper wraps, and when all costs of packing are taken into consideration, it is comparable in cost to the standard wooden box now in use.

4. Trays and boxes are identical in package arrangement and size to standard wooden boxes.

5. Requires a minimum of critically scarce materials in its construction as well as in assembly.

6. Is easy to inspect. The lids are metal stitched on and are easy to remove. All layers can then be examined in a few seconds. Ideal for all display purposes in wholesale and retail stores.

7. The waterproofed, specially oil-treated trays check scald and other storage diseases as well as the spread of decay from infected fruit. By capillary action the scald-preventing oil serves as protection to the whole apple during a short period of storage.

8. Due to its construction the package permits more rapid cooling of fruit in cold storage when properly stacked. Washington State officials say that cooling to a core temperature of 32 deg. can be accomplished 20 per cent more quickly than the wrapped wooden box.

9. It has proven practical by actual test for every warehouse and storage operation. It can be trucked and stacked as high as desired without injury to the contents of the bottom box. Handles perfectly on either gravity or power conveyors. It should be remembered that all these advantages are claimed by the originator — Mr. Friday — and have to be proven.

Must Rearrange Plants

Some difficulty is seen by local packing house operators in rearranging their plants to suit this type of package, especially when only part of the pack is being shipped this way. All plant superintendents say it has wonderful advantages if the mechanics of handling can be overcome, and if statements made by manufacturers regarding handling on trucks and in cold storage are justified. During experimental stages handling is cumbersome.

Sales and advertising executives say that some method has to be found to place in the hands of the consumer in better condition, our large size McIntosh and several of our more tender varieties such as Golden Delicious and Grimes Golden. They hope this is the solution. Quality is the only justification for the continuance of shipments to competitive markets. One thing that nobody claims for this pack is that it will change the variety or improve the quality of whatever fruit is placed in it.

Another advantage that can be seen by those well acquainted with the retail merchandising of apples is the fact that apples do not have to be unwrapped for display purposes. Very few people realize that it costs more to unwrap apples in the stores than it does to wrap them in the packing house.

It is possible to produce economically these containers in Canada. This year's comparatively small quantity was produced partly in the United States—the trays being manufactured in Chicago and the boxes in Vancouver to B.C.T.F. orders.

Have Own Brand

It will be noticed in the illustration that another innovation introduced with the "Friday Pack" is the use of B.C. Tree Fruits' own "Monashee" brand. This name was one of those selected by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. and registered last year. It was chosen for many reasons, including the pleasant ease of speech and the fact that it is almost impossible to mispronounce. Also it

"From Page 1, Column 3 the outstanding waterfronts on the continent," he said.

The town-planning expert said there are five factors to take into consideration for the grouping of public buildings. These were:

1. Grouping of public buildings acts as major influence on development of city.

2. Convenient to citizens of a city.

3. Can be major influence in bringing about the growth and stability of downtown business sections. Tax returns from business houses is best income of a city.

4. Public Building groups are important in that they help to focalize traffic.

5. Economical in servicing and administration.

Mr. Riley said it is important that off-street parking be considered, as this situation is becoming acute in most major cities, and Kelowna in the distant future would also feel the effect. The town-planning expert said, "It is not difficult to recommend a building site. Several other districts in the city had been looked over, but Mr. Riley and his associates were definitely 'sited' on the area adjacent to the lumber company. 'There is no question about the proper relationship to business,' he said, 'and it should encourage commercial development to move down Mill Avenue.'

Traffic Traffic

In looking over several other town-planning problems in the city, Mr. Riley was of the opinion that Water Street should be developed for a higher type of traffic, and that the truck traffic through the main city areas was a major problem. "It is very desirable that traffic comes in on Pendozi Street, but what actually happens is that you have a large truck traffic going to the packing houses also."

As a means of eliminating truck traffic on city streets, he suggested that a road be cut east of Dr. Knox's residence on to Ellis street for the use of trucks, and also suggested that efforts be made to extend Cawston Avenue to join on to the Vernon road. In this way the trucks would by-pass the business district and would go direct to the packing houses.

In conclusion, Mr. Riley recommended that a committee be appointed to continue working on the project, even if construction was not got underway immediately. He said the scheme could be extended over a period of years, and in this way the city could no doubt develop an outstanding waterfront.
